TOUCHED 21 COUN-TRIES

ALSO 25 STATES AND TWO TER-RITORIES OF UNITED STATES

(By United Press)

When the around-the-world fliers arrived in Seattle yesterday after a flight of approximately 28,000 miles, completed in 175 days and five hours, another American achievement was added to the already long list of triumphs in aviation.

Other famous records established by American aviators include: World's speed record, Long Island, November 4, 1923, by Lieut. A. J. Williams at 266.59 miles an hour.

A non-stop transcontinental flight, Long Island to San Diego, May 2 and 3, 1923, by Lieuts. Kelly and Macready, in 26 hours, 50 minutes, 3 seconds.

World endurance record, both for time and distance (refueling in midair), San Diego, August 27-28, 1923, by Lieuts. Lowell Smith and J. Richter in 37 hours, 15 minutes, 43.8 seconds, 3,293.26 miles.

Dawn to dusk transcontinental flight, New York to San Francisco, June 23, 1924, by Lieut. Russell L. Maughan, in 21 hours, 4 minutes.

Seattle, Sept. 29.—Complete rest, with no thought of weather conditions, faced the American army around-the-world fliers as they awoke today after having officially completed the first aerial girdling of the globe. They reached Seattle yesterday afternoon, five months, 22 days after they started on their sensational flight. Their landing was in the nature of a reunion. Major Martin, first commander of the flight, whose plane crashed in Alaska, was among the first to greet them.

Leaving Seattle April 6, the fliers traversed 28,000 miles and touched 21 countries, 25 states and two territories of the United States. They were in the air approximately 350 hours and made a total of 57 hops, averaging about 483 miles each.

POPE PIUS RECEIVES AMERICAN MOVIES STAR, JACKIE COOGAN

(By United Press)

Rome, Sept. 29.—Pope Pius today received Jackie Coogan in an audience at the Vatican.

The American boy movie star is one of the youngest persons ever received by the head of the church, an honor usually received only by persons of highest rank.

Jackie is visiting several important cities in connection with a shipment of supplies for needy children in the Near East made by the Near East Relief association.

JEWISH MERCHANT SHOOTS TO KILL IN A SYNAGOGUE

KILLING GREW OUT OF AN OLD FEUD BETWEEN THE TWO

HARRY DENN KILLED BY SOL
OSTROW, STRAY BULLETS
INJURE OTHERS

(By United Press)

Edendale, Calif., Sept. 29.—Sol Ostrow, retired Jewish merchant, shot and killed Harry Denn, another Jew, and perhaps fatally wounded another man and woman during services in a synagogue here today.

The shooting, authorities said, grew out of an old feud between Ostrow and Denn. Ostrow, it was said, sprang to his feet during the services, brandishing a revolver, then fired wildly. The congregation was thrown into turmoil. Stray bullets struck a man and woman. Ostrow shot directly at Denn, police said.

HOOF AND MOUTH DISEASE ATTACKED; KILL 2,000 HEAD

(By United Press)

Houston, Tex., Sept. 29.—With all agencies, federal, state, county and local leagued together, and with Governor Pat Neff of Texas personally directing the activities, the fight against the hoof and mouth disease was launched in all southeastern Texas this morning.

The first step in progress of eradication of the disease, declared by Governor Neff to be the worst epidemic in the history of the state, will be the slaughter of nearly 2,000 head of cattle, property of Dr. William S. Jacobs, Thomas C. Dunn, Jr., and Perry McFaddin, prominent ranch men.

The condemned cattle are all in the restricted area of 6,500 acres around which a cordon of guards have been placed since the disease was first discovered.

MARS IS COLDER THAN THE EARTH, OBSERVERS SAY

TEMPERATURE IN TROPIC ZONE
ONLY 10 DEGREES
ABOVE

AT SOUTH POLAR CAP IT DROPS
TO 95 DEGREES
BELOW

Washington, Sept. 29.—Indications that the temperature of Mars is low and its atmosphere rare were announced by the Carnegie institution of Washington in making public the results of special observations made at the Mt. Wilson observatory in California during the recent approach of the planet to the earth.

Measurements of the temperature and heat radiation of Mars were made with vacuum thermo-couple attached to the observatory's 100-inch reflecting telescope. Transmission screens were used so that the light reflected from the planet and the thermal radiation from its heated surface could be separated and analyzed. The results of these observations were outlined in a communication received by the institution from the observatory, which stated:

"The measurements indicate that the temperature of the tropical regions of Mars at Martian noon is about 10 degrees above freezing, and that the mean temperature over the south polar cap is about 95 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. The average temperature of the tropical regions between Martian sunrise and 9 p. m. is 10 degrees above zero.

"If the image of the planet is allowed to move across the sensitive surface of the thermo-couple, it is found that the resulting curve is symmetrical, thus showing that the maximum of heat comes at noon and not in the afternoon as on the earth. The form of this curve is very similar to that found in the case of the moon, and indicates a rare atmosphere for the planet.

"This conclusion is further borne out by the large percentage of radiation emitted by the heated surface of Mars and the character of its spectral distribution, which is similar to that of the moon and the planet Mercury."—Minneapolis Tribune.

CHARGED WITH SLAYING HIS RICH MOTHER-IN-LAW

Cincinnati, Sept. 29.—Sought through the East for two days for the slaying of his wealthy mother-in-law, Mrs. Francis Rawson, here Friday night and for the shooting of her daughter, Miss Nina Rawson, 40, Vinton Perin, 50, surrendered to police today.

Perin admitted the shooting. He said he had been wandering about Kentucky roads since Friday night. Perin told police he had eaten nothing since the night of the shooting and had been sleeping in the open.

BELIEF CONFIRMED THAT 28 HAVE LOST THEIR LIVES

SEARCH FOR STEAMER CLIFTON CREW CONTINUED BY LAKE MEN

(By United Press)

Cleveland, O., Sept. 29.—Records of the steamer Clifton's breakup in Lake Huron over the week-end confirmed the belief that the little whaleback went to the bottom with its crew of 28 men.

Search for the bodies was continued today under the direction of Richard Harrison of the Lake Carriers Association.

Pieces of hatch covers and parts of the pilot house were picked up by Capt. Dalton Hudson of the steamer Glencairn, according to word received here.

The Clifton sailed from Sturgeon Bay, Wis., with a cargo of crushed stone. She is believed to have sunk last Monday off Goderich during a 60-mile gale.

KIANGSU ARMY LAUNCHES ATTACK ON SHANGHAI FRONT

A HEAVY STORM INTERFERES WITH ARTILLERY MOVE-MENTS

MACHINE GUN FIRE AND AT-TACKS BY BOMBING PLANES IN EVIDENCE

(By United Press)

Shanghai, China, Sept. 29.—Kiangsu forces have launched an attack along the entire Shanghai front.

Chekiang troops who gained ground in an unexpected attack Saturday were beaten back and all positions retaken, bringing the battle lines nearer to the city.

Just when it seemed Chi Hsieh Yuan's anticipated drive on Shanghai was well under way, however, a heavy storm interfered with artillery movements.

Machine gun fire and attacks by bombing planes were effective during the advance.

FIERCEST BATTLE OF MODERN TIMES

Shanghai, Sept. 29.—The fiercest battle of modern China's history raged along the entire Shanghai front this afternoon. Apparently it is the final phase of the local conflict. Chi Hsieh Yuan's troops attacked first, hurling back Chekiang forces who made gains in a surprise attack Saturday, but before long the battle assumed such intensity it seemed both sides were on the offensive.

Artillery, bombing planes and machine gun fire kept up a terrific bombardment that shook Shanghai.

Lu Yuan Hsiang claimed advances at Kiating and Malu, Kiangsu forces were hammering at Liuhou, aiming to capture the Woosung forts.

The liner Empress of Australia lying at Woosung was hastily brought up the river, fearing a naval attack. Nanking warships were backing shell fire to the Liuhou.

Casualties were terrific and the stench of unburied dead 12 miles from Shanghai drifted penetratingly over the city. A plague was threatened.

American destroyers were rushed back to Woosung and sailors enjoying shore leave were ordered to their ships at once.

Landing parties were ordered all along the front and the Kiangsu attack aimed at a sector guarded by the Americans.

RULED SHE IS ELIGIBLE TO HOLD OFFICE OF GOVERNOR

(By United Press)

Austin, Tex., Sept. 29.—Mrs. Myrlam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for governor of Texas, is eligible to hold that office, District Judge George Calhoun ruled here today.

The ruling was made in answer to a suit filed by Charles Dickson, San Antonio attorney, to "keep Ma Ferguson's name off the ballot," on the ground that the state constitution implies that the governor of Texas must be a man.

8,000 ARE ENROLLED IN UNIVERSITY

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA BE-GINS ITS 56TH ACADEMIC YEAR

ALL PREVIOUS ENROLLMENT RECORDS ARE BROKEN

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Sept. 29.—The University of Minnesota began its 56th academic year this morning with an enrollment estimated at 8,000, which breaks all previous enrollment records.

It is estimated that the total enrollment increase over last year's record will be nearly 10 per cent.

Most of the students found time between classes this morning to pay a visit to the new stadium and inspect the new electrical engineering building and library which opened for business along with the rest of the University today.

Students coming to the University for the first time were assisted by guides in getting their bearings.

The University of Minnesota college of Agriculture, forestry and home economics and the Minnesota School of Agriculture at the University Farm opened this morning with an enrollment estimated at nearly 1,000. Enrollment in the various classes will continue throughout the day and regular classes will begin their work tomorrow. The school entertainment program will open for the year this evening with a motion picture program in the auditorium.

DEMOCRATS IN A NEW AIR OF CONFIDENCE

CLAIM THEY HAVE JOHN W.
DAVIS HEADED FOR PRESI-DENCY

DAVIS ACCOMPLISHES WONDERS, ENTHUSIASM PERMEATES PARTY

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 29.—A new air of confidence in the chances of electing John W. Davis to the presidency was apparent today at democratic headquarters. This came as the direct result of the standard-bearer's visit here on Saturday.

Not since the pre-convention days when democratic leaders talked of 1924 as "a democratic year"—a slogan forgotten in the midst of the bitter fight between Smith and McAdoo for the nomination in New York—have democratic leaders spoken with the same assurance of their party's success in November.

While some conservative democratic leaders do not share the aggressive confidence of the candidate himself, Davis, by his own enthusiasm, has apparently wiped out the last trace of defeated feeling that grew out of the New York convention and converted the party organization here into a fighting machine.

HIGHT, SCHACKLED, BACK IN THE OLD JAIL BUILDING

RETURNED FROM NASHVILLE TO JEFFERSON COUNTY JAIL

NO MORE DANGER OF MOB VIO-LENCE IS FEARED BY AUTHORITIES

(By United Press)

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Sept. 29.—Lawrence M. Hight, former Methodist minister of Ina and confessed poisoner of his wife, is back in Jefferson county jail today.

Shackled, he was brought back from Nashville jail late Sunday by Sheriff Grant Holcomb. With the windup of the county fair here all possible danger of mob violence was removed, the sheriff said.

Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, Hight's sweetheart, who confessed poisoning her husband at Hight's instigation, is still in Salem jail, where she is receiving a flood of letters from all parts of the country, offering sympathy and often financial aid.

Flowers and candy are also being sent to her in large amounts.

THIRD ARSENIC LOVE MURDER IN ILLINOIS

MAN AND HIS WIFE OF SIX DAYS MAKE CONFESSION

ROBERT TATE OF MARION SAYS
HE POISONED WOMAN'S FIRST HUSBAND

(By United Press)

Marion, Ill., Sept. 29.—The third arsenic love murder in southern Illinois in two months was cleared up today with a man and his wife of six days in the Williamson county jail after a confession that he poisoned the woman's first husband to get him out of the way.

First degree murder indictments probably will be brought by the grand jury in session here this week against Robert Tate, coal miner, who confessed his part in the murder of Joseph Harrington of Johnston City, mining town just north of here. Mrs. Ruby Harrington Tate, wife of the victim, who married Tate just 26 days after the death of Harrington September 3, confessed Saturday that she put peas in her husband's lunchbox with the understanding that Tate, in the mine where both worked, would dose them with arsenic. She also confessed she gave her husband the final dose of arsenic in buttermilk.

Tate's confession, obtained after 36 hours of cross-questioning by Sheriff George Galligan and deputies, corroborates the woman's story in almost every detail.

Tate acknowledged intimacy with the woman over a period of about six months, started when he was a boarder in their home. He said he stole the arsenic from a Johnston City drug store, but authorities doubted his story and are searching for a third party they believe guilty of complicity in the murder. After Tate made his confession, upon urgings of the woman, the couple were placed in a cell together, where they exchanged endearing caresses.

TATE SAYS LOVE MAKES A MAN DO ANYTHING

Marion, Ill., Sept. 29.—"Love makes a man do anything," was the explanation made here today by Robert Tate, who confessed to instigating the poison plot that resulted in the death of Joseph Harrington, first husband of Mrs. Tate.

"I suppose I would do it over again," Tate remarked. "Love gets a man so."

Tate gave arsenic to Harrington

TRENTON BRINGS HOME BODY OF ROBERT W. IMBRIE

ARCHBISHOP MESSMER OF MILWAUKEE IS ILL

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee, who was taken ill here Thursday following a meeting of the Catholic hierarchy here last week, was said by physicians to be "better" today.

Messmer's temperature and respiration fell during the night, indicating that he started on the way to improvement.

MOTHERS IN HYSTERIA, LOST LITTLE ONES

TRAGEDY ASSAILS RICH AND POOR FAMILY IN NEW YORK

KIDNAPING IS FEARED IN BOTH OF THE CASES BY POLICE

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 29.—Two mothers, one in the exclusive West end and the other in the inclusive East Side, were nearing nervous hysteria today as they waited reports of their missing children.

Mrs. Franklin Roshock, wife of a wealthy mercantile broker, sobbed in her luxurious apartment off upper Broadway for fear her 14-year-old son, Franklin, Jr., may have fallen into the hands of kidnapers.

Mrs. Mary Butwich, wife of a poor laborer, refused the ministrations of kindly neighbors in her little flat on Monroe street as she waited for news of her 12-year-old daughter, the "Little Red Riding Hood" of the East Side, who entered an automobile with two men Sunday afternoon and has not been seen since.

Police were working on the theory that both children may have been kidnapped. Franklin Roshock walked out of his home last Tuesday and into the clean streets of sunshine of the West End on his way to school. He never came home.

Neighbors saw the girl talking to some strange, rough-looking men. Then they saw her get into a touring car with two of the men.

And that is all police have to work on in the search for the missing children.

A nationwide search is under way for them today. Franklin Roshock is 14, five feet and one-half inch tall, chestnut hair parted on the left side, ruddy complexion and gray eyes.

He weighs about 125 pounds and wore a gray, belted suit when he left home. Ellen Butwich is 12 years old, a pretty girl with blue eyes and brown hair. She is four feet tall, weighs 90 pounds and wore a red sweater, red stockings and red slippers.

Ask Dad, He Knows

Tommy—"Is that a lion or lioness, papa?"

and when that dose failed to kill, Ruby Harrington Tate gave him another and this time fatal dose. A few days after his death Ruby and Robert were married.

DENIES RIGHT OF NATION OVER HOME AFFAIRS

WANTS TO BRING EXCLUSION
ACT BEFORE THE LEAGUE
ASSEMBLY

IMPERILS LEAGUE'S PROTOCOL
OF ARBITRATION AND SECURITY

(By United Press)

Geneva, Sept. 29.—Delegates worked desperately today to save the League of Nations protocol of arbitration and security, imperiled by Japan's insistence upon bringing the question of such problems as the American Japanese exclusion act before the League.

The protocol, hailed as the greatest constructive step toward world peace in the League's history, provides for a disarmament conference if three of the four nations endorse it.

Ambassador Adachi, Japan's representative, virtually has threatened opposition to the proposal unless the protocol's seventh article is revised and so worded that disputes "arising from differences of purely domestic jurisdiction" may be brought to the council.

The word immigration was not mentioned, but stripped of its verbiage and technicalities the Japanese proposal means that Japan wants to take its complaint against the United States to the League.

By so doing, Japan denies the right of national sovereignty over domestic affairs when another nation is affected thereby.

The situation is grave, because Japan, by neglecting to vote, can kill the entire disarmament-arbitration and security project but it is thought Japan may refrain from voting when the protocol comes up before the assembly's decision tomorrow.

JAPANESE CABINET HAS A SET OPINION

Osaka, Japan, Sept. 29.—The Japanese cabinet decided today to maintain an adamant attitude, insisting upon the reference of disputes to the League of Nations proposed arbitration control at Geneva.

Japan insists that first the court of arbitration should decide whether the question in dispute is international or internal, second, that the council of the League should recommend a peace solution of the dispute, even if it has been decided an internal matter. Public opinion, including that of all important newspapers, supports the government.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 29.—Mrs. Mary V. Shank created a sensation in circuit court today when she pleaded guilty to the charge of tarring and feathering Dorothy Grandon, 20, of Martinsburg, W. Va., on the night of July 24 last.

Mrs. Shank fought with the Grandon girl on a state road two miles outside Meyersville and urged by men of the community tarred and feathered her. Mrs. Shank was the first of 21 persons indicted for the "tar and feather party," called for trial when court opened today.

Marion, Ill., Sept. 29.—The third arsenic love murder in southern Illinois in two months was cleared up today with a man and his wife of six days in the Williamson county jail after a confession that he poisoned the woman's first husband to get him out of the way.

First degree murder indictments probably will be brought by the grand jury in session here this week against Robert Tate, coal miner, who confessed his part in the murder of Joseph Harrington of Johnston City, mining town just north of here. Mrs. Ruby Harrington Tate, wife of the victim, who married Tate just 20 days after the death of Harrington September 3, confessed Saturday that she put peas in her husband's lunch-box with the understanding that Tate, in the mine where both worked, would dope them with arsenic. She also confessed she gave her husband the final dose of arsenic in buttermilk.

Tate's confession, obtained after 30 hours of cross-questioning by Sheriff George Galligan and deputies, corroborates the woman's story in almost every detail.

Tate acknowledged intimacy with the woman over a period of about six months, started when he was a boarder in their home. He said he stole the arsenic from a Johnston City drug store, but authorities doubted his story and are searching for a third party they believe guilty of complicity in the murder. After Tate made his confession, upon urgings of the woman, the couple were placed in a cell together, where they exchanged endearing caresses.

TATE SAYS LOVE MAKES A MAN DO ANYTHING

Marion, Ill., Sept. 29. — "Love makes a man do anything," was the explanation made here today by Robert Tate, who confessed to instigating the poison plot that resulted in the death of Joseph Harrington, first husband of Mrs. Tate.

"I suppose I would do it over again," Tate remarked. "Love gets a man so."

MOTHERS IN HYSTERIA, LOST LITTLE ONES

TRAGEDY ASSAILS RICH AND
YORK

KIDNAPING IS FEARED IN BOTH OF THE CASES BY POLICE

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 29.—Two mothers, one in the exclusive West end and the other in the inclusive East Side, were nearing nervous hysteria today as they waited reports of their missing children.

Mrs. Franklin Roshock, wife of a wealthy mercantile broker, sobbed in her luxurious apartment off upper Broadway for fear her 14-year-old son, Franklin, Jr., may have fallen into the hands of kidnapers.

Mrs. Mary Butwich, wife of a poor laborer, refused the ministrations of kindly neighbors in her little flat on Monroe street as she waited for news of her 12-year-old daughter, the "Little Red Riding Hood" of the East Side, who entered an automobile with two men Sunday afternoon and has not been seen since.

Police were working on the theory that both children may have been kidnapped. Franklin Roshock walked out of his home last Tuesday and into the clean streets of sunshine of the West End on his way to school. He never came home.

Neighbors saw the girl talking to some strange, rough-looking men. Then they saw her get into a touring car with two of the men.

And that is all police have to work on in the search for the missing children.

A nationwide search is under way for them today. Franklin Roshock is 14, five feet and one-half inch tall, chestnut hair parted on the left side, ruddy complexion and gray eyes.

He weighs about 125 pounds and wore a gray, belted suit when he left home. Ellen Butwich is 12 years old, a pretty girl with blue eyes and brown hair. She is four feet tall, weighs 90 pounds and wore a red sweater, red stockings and red slippers.

DENIES RIGHT OF NATION OVER HOME AFFAIRS

WANTS TO BRING EXCLUSION
ACT BEFORE THE LEAGUE
ASSEMBLY

IMPERILS LEAGUE'S PROTOCOL
OF ARBITRATION AND SECURITY

(By United Press)

Geneva, Sept. 29.—Delegates worked desperately today to save the League of Nations protocol of arbitration and security, imperiled by Japan's insistence upon bringing the question of such problems as the American Japanese exclusion act before the League.

The protocol, hailed as the greatest constructive step toward world peace in the League's history, provides for a disarmament conference if three of the four nations endorse it.

Ambassador Adachi, Japan's representative, virtually has threatened opposition to the proposal unless the protocol's seventh article is revised and so worded that disputes "arising from differences of purely domestic jurisdiction" may be brought to the council.

The word immigration was not mentioned, but stripped of its verbiage and technicalities the Japanese proposal means that Japan wants to take its complaint against the United States to the League.

By so doing, Japan denies the right of national sovereignty over domestic affairs when another nation is affected thereby.

The situation is grave, because Japan, by neglecting to vote, can kill the entire disarmament-arbitration and security project but it is thought Japan may refrain from voting when the protocol comes up before the assembly's decision tomorrow.

JAPANESE CABINET HAS A SET OPINION

Osaka, Japan, Sept. 29.—The Japanese cabinet decided today to maintain an adamant attitude, insisting upon the reference of disputes to the League of Nations proposed arbitration control at Geneva.

Japan insists that first the court of arbitration should decide whether the question in dispute is international or internal, second, that the council of the League should recommend a peace solution of the dispute, even if it has been decided an internal matter. Public opinion, including that of all important newspapers, supports the government.

PLEADS GUILTY TO TARRING AND FEATHERING

MRS. MARY V. SHANK CREATES SENSATION IN MARYLAND
COURT

WAS FIRST OF PARTY OF 21 AR-RESTED FOR CRIME, TO BE TRIED

(By United Press)

Frederick, Md., Sept. 29. — Mrs. Mary V. Shank created a sensation in circuit court today when she pleaded guilty to the charge of tarring and feathering Dorothy Grandon, 20, of Martinsburg, W. Va., on the night of July 24 last.

Mrs. Shank fought with the Grandon girl on a state road two miles outside Meyersville and urged by men of the community tarred and feathered her. Mrs. Shank was the first of 21 persons indicted for the "tar and feather party," called for trial when court opened today.

SEN. HIRAM JOHNSON ISSUES A STATEMENT

COMMENTS ON COURT DECISION BARRING LA FOLLETTE ELECTORS

(By United Press)

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—Senator Hiram Johnson issued a second statement in which he commented on the California supreme court's decision refusing a place to Robert M. LaFollette's presidential electors on the California ballot.

The LaFollette forces, denied a place as independents, will go on the ballot, under the socialist column.

"It would be more appropriate that independent electors should be chosen," Johnson said, "but we hope that independent progressive citizens of California will not hesitate to vote for electors under a socialist label when a court controlled by partisanship denies them their constitutional rights."

MINISTER AND GIRL OF 14 ELOPE

(By United Press)

Alluwe, Okla., Sept. 29.—Rev. Joseph E. Yeats, Methodist preacher who eloped a week ago with Georgia Fields, 14, was arrested today at Winters, Tex., according to a telephone communication from Winters.

BRainerd Musical CLUB'S CONCERT

Will Inaugurate 1924 Season With Raymond Koch, Baritone, in Recital

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, OCT. 19

Mr. Koch Has a National Reputation as a Grand Opera
Singer

The Brainerd Musical Club is to inaugurate the 1924 season with Raymond Koch, baritone who gives the initial concert of the year at the New Park theatre on the afternoon of Sunday, October 19th.

Mr. Koch has a national reputation as a grand opera singer, and comes so highly recommended that Brainerd may consider itself fortunate in securing him.

The membership last year almost reached the four hundred mark. It is expected that this year it may go over that number. If any women who would like to belong to the club have not been approached by the membership committee, they can be served by asking any member. For their convenience the list is given so that tickets may be secured before the first concert and before the year-book is printed.

The principals of the various school buildings are handling the tickets for their own teachers. The others who are on the membership committee are as follows: Mrs. E. J. Quinn, chairman, Mesdames J. P. Anderson, K. C. Bredenberg, G. I. Badeaux, J. M. Hayes, C. G. Nordin, A. M. Opsahl, J. A. Thabes, Deaa White, M. E. Stauner, Carl Zapffe, John A. Hoffbauer, Mabel Carmichael and Miss Mae Belle Grexcox. Mrs. Peterson, of Pequot, has charge of the sale in that village.

If there are any who do not find it convenient to see any of these ladies, they may get tickets at Dunn's drug store. There are three concerts at the New Park theatre in addition to the monthly programs to be held at Elks hall, so any member is getting value received for her investment.

PUPIL OF HERBERT BUTLER

Miss Alice Roberta Johnstone Enters
American Conservatory of Music, Chicago

Miss Alice Roberta Johnstone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone, has been accepted as an advanced violin pupil by Herbert Butler, of the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago. Mr. Butler is generally recognized as one of the most distinguished violin artists and teachers in this country. It is said that there is no violin instructor in the United States whose classes surpass those of Mr. Butler in number, quality, and standards of excellence. Every season several of his advanced pupils make their professional debut in the concert halls of Chicago, winning the cordial commendation of the daily and musical press. As an advanced pupil it is hoped soon to hear of Miss Johnstone's appearance in concert work.

Through Miss Johnstone comes a message to Brainerd musical audiences from Miss Vera Poppe, cellist, who is in Chicago at the present time. Miss Poppe expressed her great delight in playing for audiences here, saying that she found them extraordinarily appreciative and most charming to meet individually. She sent her remembrances to those of the musical club whom she had met and said that Brainerd had a very warm spot in her heart. In fact, she has selected the last Dispatch press notices received here as one of several to be used as advance press notices by her publicity manager. It is safe to say that Brainerd musical audiences like Miss Poppe as well as she does them.

How It Was Done

A sportsman with a wonderful power of imagination was telling how at one shot he had bagged two partridges and a rabbit. His explanation was that, though he had hit only one partridge, the bird in falling had clutched at another partridge and brought that to earth in its claws.

"But how about the rabbit?" he was asked.

"Oh," was the calm reply, "my gun kicked and knocked me over, and I fell on the rabbit as it ran past,"—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Immense Difference

"I tell you, sir, I have played in all the largest theaters in Europe."

"Yes, but they're nothing compared with the theaters we have in America. Why, sir, we have theaters so big that when a man in the back seat throws an egg it hatches out before it reaches the stage."—London Tit-Bits.

GOVERNMENT MARINE INSURANCE ENDS USEFUL EXISTENCE

History will find a bright spot for the Division of Marine and Seamen's Insurance of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, which went out of existence on September 3, 1924, this being the limit of extension prescribed by law. Notwithstanding the fact that claims totaling $29,497,331.23 have been paid, the operations of this Division show a net profit of over $17,000,000, and the appropriation of $50,000,000 for the payment of losses remains intact. By Act of Congress approved September 2, 1924, the United States, acting through the Treasury Department, was authorized to insure American merchant vessels and their cargoes against the hazards of war, and thus the Bureau of War Risk Insurance came into existence.

Out of a small force located in one room in the basement of the Treasury Building grew a marine insurance business (war risks only) amounting to over $2,000,000,000.

On June 12, 1917, this Act was amended to provide insurance of the masters, officers and crews of American merchant vessels against loss of life and injury from risks of war, and detention following capture by enemies if the United States.

The records of the Marine and Seamen's Insurance Division are rich in narratives of the sea. They contain vivid accounts of fights with submarines, captures and destruction of vessels by mines, the escape of the men in life boats and rafts, and the death or injury by others.

The first loss was that of the sailing vessel "William P. Frye," which, while enroute from Seattle, Washington, to Great Britain, was captured on January 27, 1915, by the German cruiser "Prinz Eitel Friedrich," the cargo of grain thrown overboard and the vessel destroyed by bombs. No lives were lost, the men being taken on board the cruiser. This was the first vessel of American registry lost during the World war.

On the same date that the United States declared a state of war with Germany, April 6, 1917, the American schooner "Edwin R. Hunt" was destroyed by a German submarine in the Mediterranean.

Among the thrilling battles was that of the "Campana," returning from France to New York. The fight lasted from 5:30 to 9:40 a. m., 170 shots being fired by the "Campana" and not less than 400 by a German submarine, four of which took effect, setting fire to the engine room store room. With only ten shells left, the captain of the American vessel surrendered. His ship was subsequently sunk and the crew made prisoners at Brandenburg, Germany.

The captain of the "Moreni," a tank steamer of 4,045 gross tons, sunk in the Mediterranean by a German submarine, was congratulated by the commander of the submarine for the good fight he had made and medical attention was given to two of the men most badly wounded.

The largest amount at risk on any one steamer was $6,274,023 on the "Kermanshaw" for a voyage from New Orleans to Havre. The largest loss by reason of the sinking of any one vessel was that of the "Argonaut" on which $516,500 was carried on the hull and $2,950,836 on the cargo. The largest single payment made was by Treasury Warrant in the sum of $2,200,000 for the total loss of the "John D. Archbold," a Standard Oil Company tanker.

As provided for in the agreement between the United States and Germany, dated August 10, 1922, the United States, acting through the Veterans Bureau, has filed with the Mixed Claims Commission, claims for which Germany is liable, and an award has been made to the United States in the amount of $24,032,586.86, with interest at 5% from November 11, 1918, to date of payment.

Diamonds and Peaches "Grow" on Same Tract

The territory in which Nashville, Ark., is located makes a bid for fame in being the home of the world's largest peach orchard, with 5,000 acres in trees, and also the home of the only diamond mine in North America. There is a $1,000,000 peach crop in sight here this year, which will be considerably more than the annual production of the diamond mine, but the latter draws the largest number of tourists, says the Philadelphia Ledger.

The diamond mine was discovered by John Huddleston in 1907. He found it on a 100-acre tract in Pike county, about 14 miles northeast of Nashville, which he had bought because he believed there was gold to be found there. Huddleston was a farmer, but all his life had been interested in minerals. The first two "pebbles" found by Huddleston proved to be steel-blue gems, one weighing one and three-eighths carats. The third he found was a yellow stone, weighing one-half carat, and this he sold for $100.

Without waiting to prospect further, Huddleston sold his land for $36,000 to Little Rock interests, this being the exact amount necessary to purchase a certain farm he had in mind. He lamented that if he had kept his property he probably would be a millionaire some day. Those who have been connected with the diamond mining industry here since its start say that because of the high luster of the Arkansas gems in their rough state, Pike county diamonds surpass even those of South Africa. This luster comes from their extreme hardness.

The production of this diamond field to date is estimated at 5,000 carats, the stones running in size from one-eighth to 20½ carats. The diamonds occur in peridotite, which resembles burned lime in that it slakes upon exposure to air. To recover the diamonds from the peridotite two methods are employed, one being simply to spread the ore on the ground and allow it to decompose, after which it is washed in large revolving pans, and the other is to grind the ore at once and then proceed with the washing process. In the washing process the material is flushed over a grease board with water, the diamonds adhering to the grease, while the residue is carried over into the waste pile.

MUSICIANS PLEASE CHURCH AUDIENCE

Goran O. N. Follinger, Violinist, and
Carl G. Berggren, Pianist, at
Clara Lutheran Church

PROGRAM IS REVIEWED

Features Included Compositions of
Both Distinguished
Artists

Brainerd audiences have had the opportunity of hearing many fine concerts, but none more satisfying than the program of violin and piano music given at the Clara Lutheran church on Saturday evening. Though the weather was inclement, a goodly number attended, who are congratulating themselves on not having missed so fine a performance.

The musicians were Goran O. N. Follinger, violinist, and Carl G. Berggren, pianist, two of the foremost artists of Sweden. Mr. Follinger is said to be one of the three greatest Swedish violinists of today, the other two being Kjalstrom and Ruthstrom. Mr. Berggren, piano soloist and accompanist, is a pianist of distinction, and according to Dr. Victor Nilsson, musical critic for the Minneapolis Journal, "one of the finest ensembles for chamber music heard in the city." Such high praise from the most authoritative critic of the Northwest stamps the recipient as an artist of superlative talent.

The sonata is called the highest development of musical form, and the first number played by these artists was the great Sojogren sonata, whose several movements were played with a rare fusion of spirit and mastery interpretation.

A group of his own composing was played by the violinist with great warmth of feeling and ardor; as the French say "Con amore." Of these, perhaps the one called "Duetto" was the most interesting. This was written in the form of a duet, but both parts were played at the same time on the violin; a most difficult performance. These pieces of Goran Follinger's own composition convinced the audience that they were in the presence of one doubly gifted; a remarkably fine violinist, and a composer of high merit.

Carl Berggren played the next group of piano numbers in a true musicianly manner. "Fantasi," of his own composing, is an invention of much originality. As its name suggests, it follows none of the regular forms but is lively, playful, daring; fashioned from "such things as dreams are made of." Its composer played it with a loving abandon which seemed to say: "This is my own child; I will do with it as I wish." It is a privilege and a pleasure to hear a composer play his own compositions.

Since a large number of those present were fellow-countrymen, four Scandinavian pieces were substituted for the Bach and Gluck numbers. "Vermland Du Skona," "Norrländingens Hemlangtan," "Du Gamla, Du Fria," and "Sæterjantans Sondag," ("Shepherd Girl's Sunday.") These were received with enthusiasm. The last named, Ole Bull's famous composition, is a gem.

Listz's "Rhapsodie" was given as a piano solo by Mr. Berggren. He played with an impeccable purity of tone, yet produced a volume of sound truly remarkable. Wonder at his marvelous technic is lost in the enjoyment of the melody, which is as it should be. To be too conscious of an artist's technic, however perfect, is to lose the essence of the music.

Schubert's "Ave Maria" was played as a violin solo, and in a beautifully reverent manner. Its soulful tones are usually most appealing when sung, but this mellow old instrument in the hands of a master, produced a singing quality not unlike the human voice.

In great contrast was the last number on the program, "Gypsy Air," by the Spanish violinist and composer, Sarasate. To this piece Mr. Follinger gave a warmth of interpretation almost unbelievable in one of Norsk temperament. Conceived by a fiery Spaniard and written with all the abandon of the racial feeling, it was executed with brilliance, the pizzicato movements lending piquancy to the performance. Having played the national air of Sweden during the concert, in fulfillment to the land of their temporary adoption the musicians in closing the program played "The Star Spangled Banner."

The violin used by Oran Follinger is a Nicolas Amati, 235 years old, whose value has been established by New York dealers at $6000. However, its value to the owner is inestimable, and rarely are other hands than his allowed to touch it. He carries with him on tour another, very good also, though not so valuable, in case of accident to his beloved instrument.

During a short intermission Mr. Berggren gave an impromptu talk on the musical situation in Sweden today. Due to the interest the Swedish government is taking in things musical, the standard of music (always high, though Mr. Berggren did not mention this) has been raised, and in every part of Sweden the effects are noticeable. Even in small communities a purely classical program can be given successfully, the people following such a program with intelligent interest. He referred to the prevalence of jazz music in other countries, especially in America, and said that it had attempted to gain a foothold in Sweden but had been discouraged, and was to be found now only in places of doubtful reputation. His remarks were very interesting, and were well received.

Diamonds and Peaches "Grow" on Same Tract

The territory in which Nashville, Ark., is located makes a bid for fame in being the home of the world's largest peach orchard, with 5,000 acres in trees, and also the home of the only diamond mine in North America. There is a $1,000,000 peach crop, in sight there this year, which will be considerably more than the annual production of the diamond mine, but the latter draws the largest number of tourists, says the Philadelphia Ledger.

The diamond mine was discovered by John Huddleston in 1907. He found it on a 160-acre tract in Pike county, about 14 miles northeast of Nashville, which he had bought because he believed there was gold to be found there. Huddleston was a farmer, but all his life had been interested in minerals. The first two "pebbles" found by Huddleston proved to be steel-blue gems, one weighing one and three-eighths carats. The third he found was a yellow stone, weighing one-half carat, and this he sold for $100.

Without waiting to prospect further, Huddleston sold his land for $36,000 to Little Rock interests, this being the exact amount necessary to purchase a certain farm he had in mind. He lamented that if he had kept his property he probably would be a millionaire some day. Those who have been connected with the diamond mining industry here since its start say that because of the high luster of the Arkansas gems in their rough state, Pike county diamonds surpass even those of South Africa. This luster comes from their extreme hardness.

The production of this diamond field to date is estimated at 5,000 carats, the stones running in size from one-eighth to 20½ carats. The diamonds occur in peridotite, which resembles burned lime in that it slakes upon exposure to air. To recover the diamonds from the peridotite two methods are employed, one being simply to spread the ore on the ground and allow it to decompose, after which it is washed in large revolving pans, and the other is to grind the ore at once and then proceed with the washing process. In the washing process the material is flushed over a grease board with water, the diamonds adhering to the grease, while the residue is carried over into the waste pile.

MUSICIANS PLEASE CHURCH AUDIENCE

Goran O. N. Follinger, Violinist, and
Carl G. Berggren, Pianist, at
Clara Lutheran Church

PROGRAM IS REVIEWED

Features Included Compositions of
Both Distinguished
Artists

Brainerd audiences have had the opportunity of hearing many fine concerts, but none more satisfying than the program of violin and piano music given at the Clara Lutheran church on Saturday evening. Though the weather was inclement, a goodly number attended, who are congratulating themselves on not having missed so fine a performance.

The musicians were Goran O. N. Follinger, violinist, and Carl G. Berggren, pianist, two of the foremost artists of Sweden. Mr. Follinger is said to be one of the three greatest Swedish violinists of today, the other two being Kjalstrom and Ruthstrom. Mr. Berggren, piano soloist and accompanist, is a pianist of distinction, and according to Dr. Victor Nilsson, musical critic for the Minneapolis Journal, "one of the finest ensembles for chamber music heard in the city." Such high praise from the most authoritative critic of the Northwest stamps the recipient as an artist of superlative talent.

The sonata is called the highest development of musical form, and the first number played by these artists was the great Sojogren sonata, whose several movements were played with a rare fusion of spirit and masterly interpretation.

A group of his own composing was played by the violinist with great warmth of feeling and ardor; as the French say "Con amore." Of these, perhaps the one called "Duetto" was the most interesting. This was written in the form of a duet, but both parts were played at the same time on the violin; a most difficult performance. These pieces of Goran Follinger's own composition convinced the audience that they were in the presence of one doubly gifted; a remarkably fine violinist, and a composer of high merit.

Carl Berggren played the next group of piano numbers in a true musicianly manner. "Fantasi," of his own composing, is an invention of much originality. As its name suggests, it follows none of the regular forms but is lively, playful, daring; fashioned from "such things as dreams are made of." Its composer played it with a loving abandon which seemed to say: "This is my own child; I will do with it as I wish." It is a privilege and a pleasure to hear a composer play his own compositions.

Since a large number of those present were fellow-countrymen, four Scandinavian pieces were substituted for the Bach and Gluck numbers. "Vernland Du Skona," "Norrländskens Hemlangtan," "Du Gamla, Du Fria," and "Sæterjantans Sondag," ("Shepherd Girl's Sunday.") These were received with enthusiasm. The last named, Ole Bull's famous composition, is a gem.

Listz's "Rhapsodie" was given as a piano solo by Mr. Berggren. He played with an impeccable purity of tone, yet produced a volume of sound truly remarkable. Wonder at his marvelous technic is lost in the enjoyment of the melody, which is as it should be. To be too conscious of an artist's technic, however perfect, is to lose the essence of the music.

Schubert's "Ave Maria" was played as a violin solo, and in a beautifully reverent manner. Its soulful tones are usually most appealing when sung, but this mellow old instrument in the hands of a master, produced a singing quality not unlike the human voice.

In great contrast was the last number on the program, "Gypsy Air," by the Spanish violinist and composer, Sarasate. To this piece Mr. Follinger gave a warmth of interpretation almost unbelievable in one of Norsk temperament. Concealed by a fiery Spaniard and written with all the abandon of the racial feeling, it was executed with brilliance, the pizzicato movements lending piquancy to the performance. Having played the national air of Sweden during the concert, in compliment to the land of their temporary adoption the musicians in closing the program played "The Star Spangled Banner."

The violin used by Oran Follinger is a Nicolas Amati, 235 years old, whose value has been established by New York dealers at $6000. However, its value to the owner is inestimable, and rarely are other hands than his allowed to touch it. He carries with him on tour another, very good also, though not so valuable, in case of accident to his beloved instrument.

During a short intermission Mr. Berggren gave an impromptu talk on the musical situation in Sweden today. Due to the interest the Swedish government is taking in things musical, the standard of music (always high, though Mr. Berggren did not mention this) has been raised, and in every part of Sweden the effects are noticeable. Even in small communities a purely classical program can be given successfully, the people following such a program with intelligent interest. He referred to the prevalence of jazz music in other countries, especially in America, and said that it had attempted to gain a foothold in Sweden but had been discouraged, and was to be found now only in places of doubtful reputation. His remarks were very interesting, and were well received.

Meatless Gravy

1 tablespoon Kitchen Bouquet; 1 small onion; 1 small carrot; 2 tablespoons butter; 1 bouillon cube; 1 cup boiling water, salt and pepper. Cut onion and carrot into thin slices and brown in the butter. Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water, add to vegetables and simmer for five minutes. Strain, add Kitchen Bouquet and seasonings and use whenever a thin gravy is quickly needed. If desired thick, add one tablespoon flour to browned vegetable and stir a minute over the fire, then continue as directed.

Economical Stew

1 teaspoonful Kitchen Bouquet; 1 lb. beefsteak; 3 carrots; 2 raw potatoes; 1 qt. water; 2 tablespoons rice; 2 tablespoons butter; 1 tablespoonful flour. Melt butter and brown meat in this. When nicely browned, add flour and water. Cook from ½ to ¾ of an hour before adding vegetables and rice. Vegetables should be diced. Season to taste and add Kitchen Bouquet. To be served with mashed potatoes.

Brown Gravy

Add to the pan in which meat was baked or roasted, one rounding tablespoonful of flour; rub to a smooth paste; add one cup of soup stock or boiling water; stir a moment and then place on the stove, stir until the sauce bubbles, add ½ teaspoonful of Kitchen Bouquet and season with salt and pepper to taste. Let it bubble up, and serve at once.

ATTACKS VOTE SLACKERS

THE vote slacker is being attacked on all sides. The latest broadside comes from the Farm Bureau.

The executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation at its September meeting in Chicago, adopted strong resolutions calling upon all qualified voters of the nation to vote at the coming election.

"In this connection," says J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, "some startling revelations are disclosed by a comparison of the votes cast in 1920 with the eligible voting population in the United States and the state of Minnesota."

The population of the United States in 1920, twenty-one years of age and over was 60,886,520. Of this number 26,713,832 persons voted for president, and 8,467,625 were disqualified from voting. The stay-at-home and absentee voters, therefore, numbered 25,705,063.

In Minnesota the total population of the state, twenty-one years of age and over in 1920 was 1,380,834. Of this number 735,936 persons voted for president and those disqualified from voting numbered 143,192. The stay-at-home and absentee voters of the state, therefore, numbered 501,806.

"Qualified voters who do not vote should be less numerous in a republic," said Mr. Reed. "Register your opinion and preference or forever hold your peace regarding government."

In short, as we regard it, a lot of our native born citizens need a little Americanization work to stir them to the task of citizenship. Citizenship, as so well put by Judge Roeser in St. Cloud, should be made a participating duty.

COL. ROLAND G. HARTLEY

THE candidacy of Col. Roland G. Hartley for governor, is attracting attention not alone in his home state of Washington, but here, where he formerly resided in the sixth district.

The St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press comments as follows: "Roland G. Hartley is the Republican candidate for governor in the state of Washington which will interest many of his Minnesota friends. He is a member of the Hartley family, of which the late G. G. Hartley of Duluth was the most prominent. Roland married the daughter of the late Governor David M. Clough, and was during Clough's last term his private secretary. He was for a time the owner of the Cass Lake hotel, but went to Washington state when Gov. Clough removed to that state where he won a fortune in the lumber business."

"Reports from Washington predict his election. The Republican managers made no claim on Washington in their prediction a couple of weeks ago, but residents of that state who have been in St. Cloud are confident it will go Republican in November. The Literary Digest poll seems to back up that claim, as its vote was Coolidge 2252, Davis 453, La Follette 1285. Minnesota friends wish Hartley a big majority."

A WISCONSIN EDITORIAL ON LA FOLLETTE

THE Menomonee Falls News of Menomonee, Wisconsin, takes this rap at Senator La Follette.

"La Follette—who poses as a friend of the farmer, is now trying to thrust a knife into the Wisconsin beet sugar industry—Wisconsin farmers cannot raise beets in competition with sugar-cane in Cuba.

"His 'Anti-Monopoly' cry is pure bunk. He is working right into the sugar trust's hands—and at the same time he is striking a hard blow directly at the sugar beet raisers of his own state. We are now producing in the United States one quarter of the sugar we consume—reduce the tariff—and it will be a mortal injury to the home industry, and inure to the benefit of the American sugar importing interests. It will kill the domestic production, competition will then be squelched, and without competition, higher prices will inevitably carry to the consumer. Another cash crop will be abandoned. The factories will be idle, millions of dollars invested to produce home-grown sugar will be lost. He stated in his speech last Monday that the tariff must be reduced. He is either a friend or foe of the farmer. The beet grower must decide."

A CHICAGO minister, anxious for a subject, delivered a sermon on the kiss and defended the osculatory exercise. One by one somebody is attacking our inalienable rights, for if not attacked no defense of the kiss would have been necessary. The big point, however, attaches as to whom you kiss.

WE have heard of people working under cover, but the Smithsonian institute professor who was digging tunnels under Washington, D. C., streets, takes the prize. He should have made his efforts worth while by digging sewers for a plumber.

IN 1912, says the New Bedford Standard, in the course of his attack upon Theodore Roosevelt, Senator La Follette said: "No party was ever successfully organized about one man." We expect to see further confirmation of that statement in November.

THE Albert Lea Tribune comments very plainly: "President Coolidge said, 'I believe in the American Constitution.' We want a President who believes in the Constitution—not one who wants to frame a new one."

SOME 50,000 people attended the Davis barbecue in Missouri, says the Houston Post-Dispatch. Lord, if we could only get our patriots to rally at voting time as they do at eating time.

CAPTAIN BLOOD does not belie his name, for plenty of it is spilled in about every chapter.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE PYGMY ELEPHANT

The Pygmy Elephant had recently been brought from Africa to the zoo. He had not done this of his own accord, but those who were bringing him along had thought this was a good plan.

Pygmy was glad that they had thought this, for traveling did become tiresome and a friendly zoo with plenty of rest and good things to eat was a very nice way of making a break in the journey, as the travelers said.

There were few pygmy elephants in zoos and so he was a rare animal, and there was great excitement about his arrival.

A pygmy is a small creature, and the elephant was very small. It was natural to him to be small. He was only three feet high and he weighed three hundred pounds.

Of course that seems to be a pretty generous weight, but for an elephant it was very small.

He was still a young elephant, for he was only three years old, but in time he would grow older, of course!

When he was a good deal older he would weigh about two hundred pounds more than he did now.

His journey had been a strange one. First he had been brought down several rivers in a canoe especially fixed for this great occasion.

Then he had been put on the big ocean boat and there he had been given a little cabin of his own made especially for him. He had curtains upon this so that he could shut out the light when he wanted to sleep.

But he was so fascinated by the curtains that he kept closing them all the time.

When any one pulled them apart so that they were wide open, Pygmy would close them again as though to say:

"Well, this is an amusing game and helps to pass the time."

When he first arrived in a zoo on this side of the Atlantic he was given blankets with which he was nicely covered over, because the part of the country from where he had come was much warmer than it was here.

There were many other arrivals on the boat, not to mention the people. The arrivals on the boat were of great interest when they arrived at the zoo.

Many people came to see them, and the other animals and birds and snakes looked at these newcomers and said in their different ways:

"Oh, you'll probably have all the attention of the visitors for a time now."

"But they'll come back and look at us after a time, for we are old friends."

Among the new arrivals at the zoo were snakes and birds, a red-eyed ape, a Burmese lizard, a white ass from India, a cat bear, five black apes, two wild swans also from India, a number of Python and Cobra snakes and some wonderful owls from the Far East.

The wild ass was very vain. Or perhaps he should say he was very particular about his personal appearance and had a great deal of pride in the way he looked.

When he wasn't eating or sleeping or dozing he was spending his time looking after his long, shaggy hair.

"It is my beauty," he said, "and I must keep it looking very fine."

There also had arrived a Hoolac Gibbon monkey with the most enormously long arms.

But the Pygmy Elephant was a rare animal, indeed, to arrive in a zoo.

The other elephants looked at him and thought to themselves that it was strange that so small a creature should be given so much attention when they were enormously splendid, and when they were so ready to entertain the visitors.

But Pygmy got all the attention, far more than any of the other new arrivals.

And Pygmy said to himself: "Well, I put up with a good deal on the journey. It is only fair that I should be given some attention and praise after all I have gone through!"

All for Nothing

Archie's deaf aunt was paying them a visit, and her affliction greatly impressed the little fellow. As he and his small sister were getting ready for bed, he remarked: "Isn't it awful to be deaf, Nancy? Just think of having to wash your ears every day and never getting any good out of them at all!"

RESCUED FROM JAWS OF GIANT CROCODILE

Incident English Officer is Not Likely to Forget.

The following interesting account of a thrilling fight with a powerful crocodile in an Indian river is told by Lieutenant Colonel Carserly, in the Montreal Family Herald:

One afternoon the column halted by the river as usual and prepared to camp. When the men had cleared the ground and set the pickets they fell out to get their food and rest. A captain, unslinging his empty water bottle, went to the river to fill it.

At that spot the bank was perhaps four feet high and rose straight up. It curved in a sharp bend, and the water close in ashore was shallow. There was no current near the bank, but only a few yards out the deep and mighty stream swept along like a mill race.

The officer knelt on the bank and, lowering the bottle by its long strap, turned his head to speak to a sub-hadar (native company commander) near him. Half a dozen sepoy, some holding their rifles, were standing close by.

Suddenly out of the still water under the bank came a monstrous head, and like a trout rising to a fly a huge crocodile snapped at the white man's outstretched hand. The great jaws closed on it, and in a twinkling the officer was down in the river!

As he fell the astonished soldiers gasped in horror. Then without hesitation two or three leaped in after him. Standing waist deep, they clung to the captain's body and strove to pull him away from the giant reptile, which was backing out into deeper water.

The Englishman, with his hand in the crocodile's mouth, was too dazed to struggle, and submitted passively to be pulled this way and that in the grin tug of war. The native officer snatched a rifle from the man beside him and jumping into the water fired at the monster at a yard's range. A sepoy followed his example, but neither man thought of aiming at the eyes, and so their shots had no effect; an old crocodile's hide is impenetrable to bullets except in the throat, the belly and behind shoulders.

The weight and strength of the brute was too much for the united efforts of the men. In vain they dug their heels into the yielding sand and pulled with all their might and main. Slowly, remorselessly, the officer was drawn farther out; the sepoy clinging to him were dragged with him.

The Englishman seemed doomed. The crocodile was swimming now tail foremost out into the swift, racing flood.

Then a miracle happened! When

The population of the United States in 1920, twenty-one years of age and over was 60,886,520. Of this number 26,713,832 persons voted for president, and 8,467,625 were disqualified from voting. The stay-at-home and absentee voters, therefore, numbered 25,705,063.

In Minnesota the total population of the state, twenty-one years of age and over in 1920 was 1,380,834. Of this number 735,836 persons voted for president and those disqualified from voting numbered 143,192. The stay-at-home and absentee voters of the state, therefore, numbered 501,806.

"Qualified voters who do not vote should be less numerous in a republic," said Mr. Reed. "Register your opinion and preference or forever hold your peace regarding government."

In short, as we regard it, a lot of our native born citizens need a little Americanization work to stir them to the task of citizenship. Citizenship, as so well put by Judge Roeser in St. Cloud, should be made a participating duty.

COL. ROLAND G. HARTLEY

THE candidacy of Col. Roland G. Hartley for governor, is attracting attention not alone in his home state of Washington, but here, where he formerly resided in the sixth district.

The St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press comments as follows: "Roland G. Hartley is the Republican candidate for governor in the state of Washington which will interest many of his Minnesota friends. He is a member of the Hartley family, of which the late G. G. Hartley of Duluth was the most prominent. Roland married the daughter of the late Governor David M. Clough, and was during Clough's last term his private secretary. He was for a time the owner of the Cass Lake hotel, but went to Washington state when Gov. Clough removed to that state where he won a fortune in the lumber business."

"Reports from Washington predict his election. The Republican managers made no claim on Washington in their prediction a couple of weeks ago, but residents of that state who have been in St. Cloud are confident it will go Republican in November. The Literary Digest poll seems to back up that claim, as its vote was Coolidge 2252, Davis 453, La Follette 1285. Minnesota friends wish Hartley a big majority."

A WISCONSIN EDITORIAL ON LA FOLLETTE

THE Menomonee Falls News of Menomonee, Wisconsin, takes this rap at Senator La Follette.

"La Follette—who poses as a friend of the farmer, is now trying to thrust a knife into the Wisconsin beet sugar industry—Wisconsin farmers cannot raise beets in competition with sugar-cane in Cuba."

"His 'Anti-Monopoly' cry is pure bunk. He is working right into the sugar trust's hands—and at the same time he is striking a hard blow directly at the sugar beet raisers of his own state. We are now producing in the United States one quarter of the sugar we consume—reduce the tariff—and it will be a mortal injury to the home industry, and inure to the benefit of the American sugar importing interests. It will kill the domestic production, competition will then be squelched, and without competition, higher prices will inevitably carry to the consumer. Another cash crop will be abandoned. The factories will be idle, millions of dollars invested to produce home-grown sugar will be lost. He stated in his speech last Monday that the tariff must be reduced. He is either a friend or foe of the farmer. The beet grower must decide."

A CHICAGO minister, anxious for a subject, delivered a sermon on the kiss and defended the osculatory exercise. One by one somebody is attacking our inalienable rights, for if not attacked no defense of the kiss would have been necessary. The big point, however, attaches as to whom you kiss.

We have heard of people working under cover, but the Smithsonian institute professor whose penchant was digging tunnels under Washington, D. C., streets, takes the prize. He should have made his efforts worth while by digging sewers for a plumber.

IN 1912, says the New Bedford Standard, in the course of his attack upon Theodore Roosevelt, Senator La Follette said: "No party was ever successfully organized about one man." We expect to see further confirmation of that statement in November.

THE Albert Lea Tribune comments very plainly: "President Coolidge said, 'I believe in the American Constitution.' We want a President who believes in the Constitution—not one who wants to frame a new one."

SOME 50,000 people attended the Davis barbecue in Missouri, says the Houston Post-Dispatch. Lord, if we could only get our patriots to rally at voting time as they do at eating time.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE PYGMY ELEPHANT

The Pygmy Elephant had recently been brought from Africa to the zoo. He had not done this of his own accord, but those who were bringing him along had thought this was a good plan.

Pygmy was glad that they had thought this, for traveling did become tiresome and a friendly zoo with plenty of rest and good things to eat was a very nice way of making a break in the journey, as the travelers said.

There were few pygmy elephants in zoos and so he was a rare animal, and there was great excitement about his arrival.

A pygmy is a small creature, and the elephant was very small. It was natural to him to be small. He was only three feet high and he weighed three hundred pounds.

Of course that seems to be a pretty generous weight, but for an elephant it was very small.

He was still a young elephant, for he was only three years old, but in time he would grow older, of course! When he was a good deal older he would weigh about two hundred pounds more than he did now.

His journey had been a strange one. First he had been brought down several rivers in a canoe especially fixed for this great occasion.

Then he had been put on the big ocean boat and there he had been given a little cabin of his own made especially for him. He had curtains upon this so that he could shut out the light when he wanted to sleep.

But he was so fascinated by the curtains that he kept closing them all the time.

When any one pulled them apart so that they were wide open, Pygmy would close them again as though to say:

"Well, this is an amusing game and helps to pass the time."

When he first arrived in a zoo on this side of the Atlantic he was given blankets with which he was nicely

He Was Given Blankets.

covered over, because the part of the country from where he had come was much warmer than it was here.

There were many other arrivals on the boat, not to mention the people. The arrivals on the boat were of great interest when they arrived at the zoo.

Many people came to see them, and the other animals and birds and snakes looked at these newcomers and said in their different ways:

"Oh, you'll probably have all the attention of the visitors for a time now."

"But they'll come back and look at us after a time, for we are old friends."

Among the new arrivals at the zoo were snakes and birds, a red-eyed ape, a Burmese lizard; a white ass from India, a cat bear, five black apes, two wild swans also from India, a number of Python and Cobra snakes and some wonderful owls from the Far East.

The wild ass was very vain. Or perhaps we should say he was very particular about his personal appearance and had a great deal of pride in the way he looked.

When he wasn't eating or sleeping or dozing he was spending his time looking after his long, shaggy hair.

"It is my beauty," he said, "and I must keep it looking very fine."

There also had arrived a Hoolac Gibbon monkey with the most enormously long arms.

But the Pygmy Elephant was the great zoo attraction. He was a rare animal, indeed, to arrive in a zoo.

The other elephants looked at him and thought to themselves that it was strange that so small a creature should be given so much attention when they were enormously splendid, and when they were so ready to entertain the visitors.

But Pygmy got all the attention, far more than any of the other new arrivals.

And Pygmy said to himself: "Well, I put up with a good deal on the journey. It is only fair that I should be given some attention and praise after all I have gone through!"

All for Nothing

Archie's deaf aunt was paying them a visit, and her affliction greatly impressed the little fellows. As he and his small sister were getting ready for bed, he remarked: "Isn't it awful to be deaf, Nancy? Just think of having to wash your ears every day and never getting any good out of them at all!"

RESCUED FROM JAWS OF GIANT CROCODILE

Incident English Officer is Not Likely to Forget.

The following interesting account of a thrilling light with a powerful crocodile in an Indian river is told by Lieutenant Colonel Carser, in the Montreal Family Herald:

One afternoon the column halted by the river as usual and prepared to camp. When the men had cleared the ground and set the pickets they fell out to get their food and rest. A captain, unslinging his empty water bottle, went to the river to fill it.

At that spot the bank was perhaps four feet high and rose straight up. It curved in a sharp bend, and the water close in shore was shallow. There was no current near the bank, but only a few yards out the deep and mighty stream swept along like a mill race.

The officer knelt on the bank and, lowering the bottle by its long strap, turned his head to speak to a sub-hadar (native company commander) near him. Half a dozen sepoy, some holding their rifles, were standing close by.

Suddenly out of the still water under the bank came a monstrous head, and like a trout rising to a fly a huge crocodile snapped at the white man's outstretched hand. The great jaws closed on it, and in a twinkling the officer was down in the river!

As he fell the astonished soldiers gasped in horror. Then without hesitation two or three leaped in after him. Standing waist deep, they clung to the captain's body and strove to pull him away from the giant reptile, which was backing out into deeper water.

The Englishman, with his hand in the crocodile's mouth, was too dazed to struggle, and submitted passively to be pulled this way and that in the grim tug of war. The native officer snatched a rifle from the man beside him and jumping into the water fired at the monster at a yard's range. A sepoy followed his example, but neither man thought of aiming at the eyes, and so their shots had no effect; an old crocodile's hide is impenetrable to bullets except in the throat, the belly and behind shoulders.

The weight and strength of the brute was too much for the united efforts of the men. In vain they dug their heels into the yielding sand and pulled with all their might and main. Slowly, remorselessly, the officer was drawn further out; the sepoy clinging to him were dragged with him.

The Englishman seemed doomed. The crocodile was swimming now tall foremost into the swift, racing flood.

Then a miracle happened! When

free! (See Page 5)
The Handy Qt. size

It seemed that nothing could save the man the strong current caught the monster with full force and swept it away, and by a marvelous stroke of luck the officer's hand was torn from its mouth.

The irregular teeth of a crocodile fortunately do not fit close together. So little injured was the captain that after the doctor had bound up his hand he was able to attend to his duties immediately.

Tennis Thirty Years Ago

A well-known tennis player of the Doherty period told me an amusing story the other day. He said he used to play on a public court in one of the squares in Kensington some thirty years ago. There was a large notice up to the effect that "gentlemen were requested not to play in their shirt sleeves." It goes to show the type of lawn tennis that was played in those days.

"This player also told me how he remembers going to stay at a certain country house, and how some irate colonel became quite angry with him for volleying. The player was told what had form it was."—From Lawn Tennis, by F. Gordon Lowe.

Taking No Chances

A troop of barnstormers out from Liverpool were in imminent danger of stranding in Wales.

"We got to get out of Wales before we strand," declared one, "and that's all there is to it."

"What's the difference," asked another, "whether we break up in Wales or elsewhere?"

"I was once stranded in a town called Llerechgoch and from there I wrote to my friends for help. Of course they all thought I was on a spree and nobody would send me a cent."

BANKERS PLAN TO EXTEND AID TO AGRICULTURE

BETTERMENT OF SERVICE WILL BE DEDICATED AT CHICAGO
SESSION

MORE THAN 7,500 BANKERS WILL ATTEND CONVENTION AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Plans for developing and expanding the services of banks to business and agriculture will be the central theme of the discussions at the fiftieth annual convention of the American Bankers' association beginning today. Upwards of 7,500 bankers from all sections of the country are expected, officials said.

Problems of finance in government, industry and agriculture will be considered through the four-day convention. Speakers of national reputation will contribute their ideas and opinions to the round table.

Special commissions will devote virtually their entire time during the convention to discussion of specific groups of economic questions on which reports will be submitted to the general sessions. More important among these reports, officials believe, will be those on state taxation, and on economic policy. The report of the agricultural commission will be of special interest, also, it is believed, because of its survey of the activities of the agricultural finance corporation, which recently concluded operations in the northwestern states.

Walter W. Head, of Omaha, president, will preside at the general sessions.—Minneapolis Tribune.

BEARS MESSAGE OF REAL OPTIMISM

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Bearing messages of real optimism for the country, 8,000 bankers gathered here today for the fiftieth annual convention of the American Bankers' association.

Noted speakers scheduled to appear in the four-day meeting include Dwight Morrow of J. P. Morgan and company, E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture and leading bankers from all parts of the country.

"Business is on the upgrade and marching right ahead," Walter W. Head, Omaha, Neb., declared.

"While a boom in business is not likely at this time, I am anticipating a steady improvement in general conditions."

G. R. Forgan, of the National City Bank of Chicago, Richard R. Hawes, St. Louis banker, Charles S. Hirsch, Cincinnati, George F. Roberts, National City Bank of New York, and many others issued optimistic messages.

"There has been a distinct improvement in the past three months in many lines of business," Forgan said. "With the election satisfactorily out of the way I do not see any reason why the improvement should not be continued."

"Business conditions generally are favorable and the European situation is improved," Hawes said.

"The presidential election will soon be over and remove the disturbing factor," Hawes said.

"The outlook for business this fall and next summer is very satisfactory," Roberts said. "Conditions are more favorable to stability and prosperity than at any time in recent years," Hirsch said.

"Underlying conditions are sound. Stocks in nearly every line of business are low. Business today is governed largely by demand, and merchants and manufacturers are not speculating on the future."

"Crime levies a toll of $3,000,000,000 annually in the United States," the protective committee of the association stated.

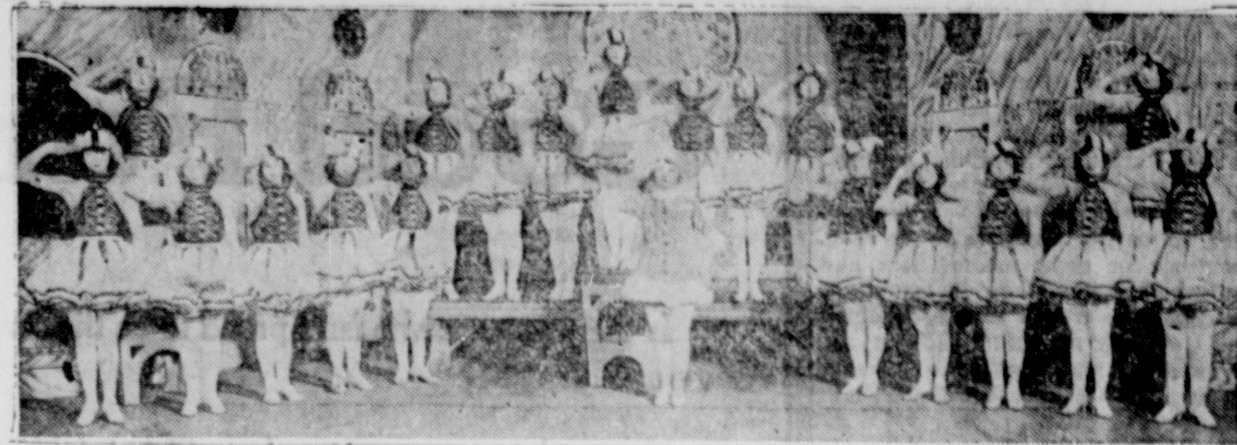

Tonight the committee will urge bankers to fight for establishment of a state police force in every state of the union on the ground that states with police forces have less crime than states without such protection.

Here is a picture that is gripping in its dramatic power and yet is singularly free from obvious drama. A picture which offers pictorial proof that all of life's drama is not bottled up in skillfully prepared dramatic situations but is contained in every instant of one's work-a-day existence.

The picture is "Fools Highway," which opened at the Lyceum yesterday and has its last showing tonight, a sincere picturization of Owen Kildare's life history as described by him in his famous novel, "My Mamie Rose." It was filmed as a Jewel feature with Mary Philbin in the starring role.

Once Famous Film Queen is Now Coming Back

Like ghosts of a glorious past, two once-famous picture queens have come flitting back into the spotlight. Probably the most interesting of these two is Theda Bara, once known as the world's greatest vampire and who enjoyed a vogue equal to Valentino's. Several times Miss Bara has been on the verge of venturing again into the spotlight, but her plans never ripened. This time, however, she has secured "Declasse," that splendid play in which Ethel Barrymore scored her greatest hit in recent years. In "Declasse," Miss Bara sheds her vampire clothes.

Beverly Bayne has started another screen career opposite Monte Blue in "Her Marriage Vow," the Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen based on the dramatic success of the same name by Owen Davis. This picture will play at the New Park on Tuesday and Wednesday, and will be a demonstration of the ability of Miss Bayne to stage a proper come-back.

The vehicle of her return is an exciting story of marriage as it is conducted today.

Good Word for Birds

Many birds believed pests are actually of help to the farmer, according to a recent survey, which claims that thousands are ruthlessly slaughtered in belief that they are grain or fruit eaters when they really live on insects. English sparrows feed upon the seventeen-year locust, and other insects, and should be protected. Contrary to belief, the crow's good traits outnumber his bad habits, and all shore birds are beneficial.—Exchange.

Florida's Long Coast Line

Florida has a longer coast line than any other state. Its length is almost twelve hundred miles, more than half the distance between Chicago and San Francisco. California is second in this respect, with more than one thousand miles of coast line. Some authorities are inclined to give the preference to California, there being so little difference between the two lengths.

A Romance of the Spanish Main
CAPTAIN BLOOD
 By RAFAEL SABATINI
 Copyrighted, 1923, by Rafael Sabatini.
 "CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Captain Peter Blood, buccaneer, rescues Arabella Bishop, with whom he is in love and Lord Wade, an emissary of King James, from two Spanish ships. Lord Wade offers Blood a commission under James, but the buccaneer had been sent as a slave to the Barbadoes by this same King and he declines. To place Arabella in safety he sails into the teeth of the British fleet commanded by Colonel Bishop, governor of Barbadoes, whom Blood had once made walk the plank. Blood's crew would fight to the end, but Blood orders the ship to heave to that Arabella may be landed safely.

"Again you misapprehend me," cried Lord Julian, between concern and indignation. "That is not intended. Your followers will be included in your commission."

"And d'ye think they'll go with me to hunt their brethren—the Brethren of the Coast? D'ye think I could take a commission of King James's? I tell you I wouldn't be soiling my hands with it—thief and pirate's hands though they be. Thief and pirate is what you heard Miss Bishop call me today—a thing of scorn, an outcast. And who made me that? Who made me thief and pirate? D'ye dream, man, what it is to be a slave? But there! I grow hot for nothing at all. I explain myself, I think, and God knows, it is not my custom. I am grateful to you, Lord Julian, for your kindly intentions. I am so. But ye'll understand, perhaps. Ye look as if ye might."

Lord Julian stood a moment, watching the tall figure as it moved away towards the taffrail. Then letting his arms fall helplessly to his side in dejection, he departed.

CHAPTER XVIII
THE SERVICE OF KING JAMES

Miss Arabella Bishop was aroused very early on the following morning by the brazen voice of a bugle and the insistent clanging of a bell in the ship's belfry. In his cabin Lord Julian was already astir and hurriedly dressing. About him in the waist, where all last night had been so peaceful, there was a frenziedly active bustle of some three-score men. By the rail, immediately above and behind Lord Julian, stood Captain Blood in altercation with a one-eyed giant, whose head was swathed in a red cotton kerchief, whose blue shirt hung open at the waist. As his lordship, moving forward, revealed himself, their voices ceased, and Blood turned to greet him.

"Good morning to you," he said, and added: "I've blundered badly, so I have. I should have known better than to come so close to Jamaica by night. But I was in haste to land you. Come up here. I have something to show you."

Wondering, Lord Julian mounted the companion as he was hidden. Standing beside Captain Blood, he looked astern, following the indication of the Captain's hand, and cried in amazement. There, not more than three miles away, was land—an uneven wall of vivid green that filled the western horizon. And a couple of miles this side of it, bearing after them, came speeding three great white ships.

Wolverstone looked down sardonically upon Lord Julian. "So that you're like to be in yet another sea-fight afore ye've done wi' ships, my lord."

"That's a point we were just arguing," said Blood. "For I hold that we're in no case to fight against such odds."

"The odds be damned!" Wolverstone thrust out his heavy jaw. "We're used to odds. The odds was heavier at Maracaybo; yet we won out, and took three ships. They was heavier yesterday when we engaged Don Miguel."

"Aye—but those were Spaniards." "And what better are these?" "Are ye afraid of a lubberly Barbadoes planter? Whatever ails you, Peter? I've never known ye scared afore."

A gun boomed out behind them. "That'll be the signal to lie to," said Blood, in the same listless voice; and he fetched a sigh.

Wolverstone squared himself before his captain.

"I'll see Colonel Bishop in hell or ever I lies to for him."

"Oh, but—by your leave," his lordship intervened, "surely there is nothing to be apprehended from Colonel Bishop. Considering the service you have rendered to his niece and to me . . . I assure you that my word counts for something in England."

"Oh, aye—in England. But this ain't England, damme," Wolverstone laughed.

Came the roar of a second gun, and a round shot splashed the water less than half a cable's-length astern. Blood leaned over the rail to speak to the fair young man immediately below him by the helmsman at the whipstaff.

"I'll see Colonel Bishop in Hell or ever I lies to for him."

"Bid them take in sail, Jeremy," he said quietly. "We lie to." But Wolverstone interposed again.

"Hold there a moment, Jeremy!" he roared. "Wait!" Captain and loyal follower faced, their glances met, sullen defiance braving dull anger, surprised and pain.

"There is no question," said Blood, "of surrender for any man aboard save only myself. If Bishop can report to England that I am taken and hanged, he will magnify himself and at the same time gratify his personal rancour against me. I'll send him a message offering to surrender aboard his ship, taking Miss Bishop and Lord Julian with me, but only on condition that the Arabella is allowed to proceed unharmed. It's a bargain that he'll accept, if I know him at all."

"Ye're surely daft even to think of it, Peter!"

"Not so daft as you when you talk of fighting that." "Before we've run another half-mile we shall be within range."

Wolverstone swore elaborately, then suddenly checked. Out of the tail of his single eye he had espied a trim figure in gray silk that was ascending the companion. So engrossed had they been that they had not seen Miss Bishop come from the door of the passage leading to the cabin. And there was something else that those three men on the poop, and Pitt immediately below them, had failed to observe. Some moments ago Ogle, followed by the main body of his gun-deck crew, had emerged from the booby hatch, to fall into muttered, angrily vehement talk with those who, abandoning the guntackles upon which they were laboring, had come to crowd about him.

Even now Blood had no eyes for that. He turned to look at Miss Bishop, marvelling a little, after the manner in which yesterday she had avoided him, that she should now venture upon the quarter-deck. Her presence at this moment, and considering the nature of his altercation with Wolverstone, was embarrassing. Captain Blood bared his head and bowed silently in a greeting which she returned composedly and formally.

"What is happening, Lord Julian?" she enquired.

As if to answer her a third gun spoke from the ships.

"They are ships of the Jamaica fleet," his lordship answered her.

Before more could be added, their attention was drawn at last to Ogle, who came bounding up the broad ladder, and to the men lounging aft in his wake. Blood, confronted him.

"What's this?" the Captain demanded sharply. "Your station is on the gun-deck. Why have you left it?"

"Captain," Ogle said, and as he spoke he pointed to the pursuing ships. "Colonel Bishop holds us."

"Ogle," said he, in a voice cold and sharp as steel, "your station is on the gun-deck. You'll return to it at once, and take your crew with you, or else . . ."

"Threats will not serve, Captain." Captain Blood's hand closed over the butt of one of his pistols slung before him.

TALKS POLITICS
EVEN WHEN HIS FOOT IS CUT OFF

(By United Press)

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 29.—While surgeons prepared to amputate his right foot at the ankle, U. S. Senator Hubert Stephens of Mississippi talked politics today.

Senator Stephens recently cut his foot with an axe. Blood poisoning developed and physicians said amputation was necessary to save the loss of the right limb and possibly the senator's life.

The operation was to be performed today. Senator Stephens expressed regret that his condition would prevent his active participation in the presidential campaign.

"If It's Printing We Do It"

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

By RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Captain Peter Blood, buccaneer, rescues Arabella Bishop, with whom he is in love and Lord Wade, an emissary of King James, from two Spanish ships. Lord Wade offers Blood a commission under James, but the buccaneer had been sent as a slave to the Barbadoes by this same King and he declines. To place Arabella in safety he sails into the teeth of the British fleet commanded by Colonel Bishop, governor of Barbadoes, whom Blood had once made walk the plank. Blood's crew would fight to the end, but Blood orders the ship to heave to that Arabella may be landed safely.

"Again you misapprehend me," cried Lord Julian, between concern and indignation. "That is not intended. Your followers will be included in your commission."

"And d'ye think they'll go with me to hunt their brethren—the Brethren of the Coast? D'ye think I could take a commission of King James's? I tell you I wouldn't be soiling my hands with it—thief and pirate's hands though they be. Thief and pirate is what you heard Miss Bishop call me today—a thing of scorn, an outcast. And who made me that? Who made me thief and pirate? D'ye dream, man, what it is to be a slave? But there! I grow hot for nothing at all. I explain myself, I think, and God knows, it is not my custom. I am grateful to you, Lord Julian, for your kindly intentions. I am so. But ye'll understand, perhaps. Ye look as if ye might."

Lord Julian stood a moment, watching the tall figure as it moved away towards the taffrail. Then letting his arms fall helplessly to his side in dejection, he departed.

CHAPTER XVIII
THE SERVICE OF KING JAMES

Miss Arabella Bishop was aroused very early on the following morning by the brazen voice of a bugle and the insistent clanging of a bell in the ship's belfry. 2ND PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Provides City Shall Not Be Liable For Certain Injuries Unless Notice of Defects Filed

EXPLANATION IS GIVEN

City Attorney Fullerton Describes Present Conditions in City

Editor, Brainerd Daily Dispatch, Brainerd, Minnesota.

Dear Sir: In the Brainerd Daily Dispatch, Saturday evening the first proposed amendment to the City Charter was explained. I submit the following explanation of the second proposed charter amendment:

The second amendment provides that the City shall not be liable for injuries sustained by defective streets or sidewalks unless notice of the defects has been filed with the City Clerk at least ten days before the occurrence of the injury or damage.

Under the present conditions, the City is the only unit of government that is liable in such cases. If one is hurt on a county road or on a town road, there can be no recovery of damage against the County or Township. Neither could there be a recovery of damage against the State or Federal government if one were injured on the properties of such divisions of the government. It is believed by many that the City should not be any more liable than the County, State or Federal government, and that it is proper for the City to protect itself as far as possible against liability for damage. Some believe it will tend to keep all citizens of Brainerd interested in possible liability to the extent that they will report any known defects and that after the defects are reported, that such notice, together with a realization of possible consequence, will tend to make the council even more prompt in caring for such defects.

This is a question of public policy and all may not agree that it is best that such amendment be adopted. Many will vote for the amendment for the reason that they see no reason why the City should be the illogical exception to the rule that the government in all its branches is not liable in damage cases.

The same amendment was submitted in May, 1921, at which time it received 1059 votes in favor of the amendment and only 275 votes against the amendment. The amendment did not carry, however, for the reason that so many people did not vote on the proposition that the required majority of the total vote cast was not received, the 1059 favorable votes being fifteen votes less than the number required.

The Supreme Court has passed on the validity of such an amendment in the case of Schigley vs City of Waseca, 106 Minn. 94, 118 NW 256 D. H. FULLERTON, City Attorney.

ANNUAL CONGRESS OF SAFETY COUNCIL NOW OPEN AT LOUISVILLE

(By United Press)

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 29.—A new method of dealing with the national accident problem was announced by the National Safety Council when it opened its 13th annual safety congress here today.

Prominent among associations at the congress are: The United States Chamber of Commerce, The American Automobile Association, The United States Automobile Chamber of Commerce, The American Railway association, The International Chief of Police association, The National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, The American Electric Railway association and the American Mutual Alliance.

The council proposes to enlist the aid of all national associations whose interests in any way touch upon the street and highway problem.

C. B. Auel, vice-president of the Council, explained how the new program would supplement the efforts of American cities—nine of which have just announced they have reduced public accident fatalities during the first six months of 1924 in comparison with the same period in 1923.

NEHEMIAH HUBBARD DIED SUDDENLY

Death Sunday Believed to Have Been Caused From Heart Trouble

LEAVES WIFE, SIX CHILDREN

Family Lived in City Past 13 Years. Funeral to be Held on Wednesday

Nehemiah Hubbard passed away suddenly on Sunday, death resulting it is thought from heart trouble. Mr. Hubbard was born at Sherburne, Indiana, October 11th, 1850. He moved to Cedar Rapids, Iowa when a young man, and was married there to Miss Ophelia Rittenburg on December 14th, 1869. To this union were born four daughters and two sons, all of whom with their mother are living. They are Mrs. Flora Butterfield, Brainerd, Mrs. George Allers, Minneapolis, Mrs. Myrtle Kosmo, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Mrs. Charles Countryman, Pine River, Arthur of Brainerd and Charles of Fargo, N. D.

The family moved to Brainerd in 1911, and has made its home here ever since. Mr. Hubbard was for a number of years janitor at the old court house.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Whitney chapel, Rev. Walter Smith officiating, and interment will be made in the Baxter cemetery.

HAROLD E. PURDY IS PROMOTED

General Salesman Standard Oil Co. in This Territory Goes to Minneapolis

ASSUMES NEW DUTIES TODAY

Robert Elder of Brainerd Succeeds to Position of Mr. Purdy Held Here

Harold E. Purdy, for the past two years general salesman for the Standard Oil Company in the Brainerd territory, has been promoted to superintendent of the Minneapolis warehouse and left today to assume his new duties.

Mr. Purdy has made many friends in Brainerd who will regret to hear of his leaving, but who will join in wishing him success in his new location. He has always worked hard for the interests of his company, and his friends feel that the promotion is a most deserved one.

Robert Elder, who has been with the Standard Oil Company at Brainerd for the last five years as service station attendant and later as local agent, has been promoted to the position made vacant by Mr. Purdy removal to Minneapolis, and E. W. McCulloch, connected with the company for about seven years, has been made agent at Brainerd.

Roy Carlson, service station attendant at South Sixth and Maple streets has also been promoted, and leaves for Minneapolis about October 1st, where he will join the sales force. Mr. Carlson has been an exceptional service station manager, with an enviable record, and patrons will regret to learn that he is to leave that position, although they feel that his promotion is a meritorious one.

FIRE AT THE PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

Flames Started Around Steam Pipe at 11 O'clock on Sunday Morning

DROP CORD FOUND OVER PIPE

Fire Damaged Corner of 3 Rooms on First Floor Before Extinguished

Fire at about eleven o'clock Sunday morning threatened St. Francis parochial school, corner of North Broadway and Juniper streets. The flames seem to have started in the rafters below the first floor, and around a steam pipe. The firemen found a drop cord for an electric light thrown over this steam pipe, and the insulation from the cord was burned off for several feet, seeming to indicate that the current had been short circuited which may have caused the fire. It is said that a fire two years ago started at practically the same place.

The fire burned up between the partitions and damaged a corner of three rooms on the first floor before it was extinguished. No furniture was damaged. The loss is said to have been covered by insurance. There were no children in school at the time and school work today was taken up without any delay.

PEONIES ARRIVING

First Shipment Received This Morning by Rotary Club Committee

The first shipment of the peony roots was received this morning. The Rotary committee is delighted with the quality and size of the roots which were received in excellent shape.

As this first shipment was not sufficient for all and the remainder will not be received for another week it was decided to give these to those who have paid cash.

These roots may be had at Turcotte Bros. Tuesday by those who have their receipts to present showing they have paid cash. An exception will be made for N. E. Brainerd purchasers because of the distance, and all who have paid cash will secure their roots at Richard Ilse's by presenting their receipts.

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE AND ORDER OF NOTICE THEREON

In the District Court of the United States, for the Fifth Division, District of Minnesota.

In the matter of Carl William Bowerman, Bankrupt, No. 2464 in Bankruptcy. To the Honorable William A. Cant, Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota.

Carl William Bowerman, of Brainerd, in the County of Crow Wing, and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 22nd day of September, 1923, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankruptcy acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1923. CARL WILLIAM BOWERMAN, Bankrupt.

Order of Notice

District of Minnesota, ss. On this 18th day of September, A. D. 1924, on reading the Petition for Discharge of the above-named bankrupt, it is—

ORDERED By the Court, that a hearing be had upon the said petition on the 23rd day of November, A. D. 1924, before the said court, at Duluth, in said district, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Brainerd Dispatch, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court, that the clerk shall send, by mail, to all known creditors, copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

WITNESS The Honorable William A. Cant, Judge of the said court, and the seal thereof, at Duluth, in said district, on the 18th day of September, A. D. 1924.

CURTIS JOHNSON TO SPEAK HERE

Known State Over as One of Fastest and Best Platform Orators

IS PRES. STATE FAIR BOARD

Has Declared Himself for Republican Ticket, From Top to Bottom

Curtis Johnson, known the state over as one of the fastest and best platform orators in the state, will make an appearance in this county within the next few days in behalf of the candidates who are seeking office on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Johnson, who is president of the Minnesota State Fair Board, and a successful business man of national renown in Pine City, was eliminated at the Republican primary as a candidate for Governor, more than likely for the reason that the vote was split in too many places. As it was Mr. Johnson carried St. Paul and Ramsey county, and in many other localities gave ample evidence of his great popularity.

Mr. Johnson declared himself for the Republican ticket, from top to bottom, immediately after the primary, and he is now on a speaking tour, the time for which he is taking from his own business in Pine City. Mr. Johnson is alive to the needs of the hour, and is well worth listening to by the voters of this section.

AIDS DEERWOOD "SAN" FUND

J. Harry O'Brien, Representing Tuchelts Sons, Does so in Novel Manner

J. Harry O'Brien, representing F. W. Tuchelts Sons, cigar manufacturers, is offering to assist the Deerwood sanatorium radio fund in a rather unique manner.

Mr. O'Brien is placing a box of cigars at each of three downtown drug stores, namely, Dunn's, Johnson's Pharmacy and the Economy drug store, formerly Lammon's. In all, seventy-five cigars will be so placed on sale and the cash received from these smokes, $2.50, will be turned over to the radio fund of the Deerwood sanatorium.

These cigars are the well known El-Prodecto brand, especially packed in individual capsules to insure their quality and aroma, and are regular ten-cent sellers.

Smokers who wish to help the radio fund can make their money do double duty by purchasing the capsule cigars at the three named drug stores. Mr. O'Brien assisted a charity in Bemidji recently in a similar manner, and the cigars were disposed of in short order. It is believed the idea will take as well in Brainerd for the radio fund. The donor's gift will be very much appreciated by the sanatorium.

A Long Winter Is Before Us; Will the Beauty of the Home Counteract the Unpleasant Weathsr?

In adding articles for the beauty and comfort of the home there is a double pleasure. We all cannot but love new things and there is a great pleasure in securing them whether it be materials for a new pillow or hangings for a window. Then there is that unequalled pleasure of making home so pleasant that one forgets the elements without.

Many weeks are ahead of us when the car stands unused, when it is more pleasurable to be in the home than to attend attractions without.

Few things so add to the pleasing surroundings of the home as those things which are made of cretonnes, chintzes, and drapery materials of various kinds. The price range we show will meet the purse of every home for these materials may be had from 30c to $5.00 the yard, with the most of them costing from 50c to $1.00 the yard.

We shall be delighted to give you such suggestions as you may desire for the beautification of your home.

IN THE WOODS

J. M. Hannaford and Associates of Waldorf Paper Products Co., Motor Through City

HAVE CABIN ON BLUE LAKE

Will Combine Business With Pleasure in Their Fall Outing

J. M. Hannaford, former president of the Northern Pacific railway, with a group of friends, all directors and officers of the Waldorf Paper Products Company, of St. Paul, passed through the city today by automobile, enroute to the company's "Cabin" on Blue lake, near Outing, where they will hold a directors meeting.

In the party were M. W. Waldorf, president of the paper products company, Paul N. Meyers, vice president, Douglas Putnam, secretary-treasurer, J. M. Hannaford, John L. Sullwood and Judge Thomas D. O'Brien, all directors. The return trip to St. Paul will be made on Wednesday. The officers expect to combine business with pleasure in this short outing, and take advantage of the fishing and hunting in addition to holding their director's meeting.

The Importance of a "Right" Labor Policy

In his new book, "The Organization of Modern Business", W. R. Basset says:

"One hears a good deal about the iron heel of capitalistic despotism squeezing blood profit out of the poor, down-trodden worker. But, I have yet to discover a company that became really prosperous when operated on the lemon-squeezer principle."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) long since appreciated the essential value of putting the "right" labor policy into practice. And such a policy is as important to the community as it is to the Company.

The only way to achieve a "right" labor policy is to consider it in its broad aspect as affecting the whole social fabric. Consumers as well as employers and employees profit by industrial peace. The public as a whole suffers when an industry does not afford economic protection to its workers and their families.

The Directors of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in every policy they institute, consider all parties involved—consumers, stockholders, workers, and the public as a whole.

The keystone of this Company's policy is that all must be benefitted by its existence as an industrial organization.

One of the latest plans by which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has recognized the partnership of its workers, is to establish a death benefit plan for the dependents of its employees. It must be clearly recognized that this policy is not a benefit solely to the employees. It benefits, indirectly, every one in the community because it is a forward-looking, sound, economic measure.

A sage summary of the service rendered by this measure is given by the Lapeer, Michigan, Clarion:

"The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has insured the lives of its 25,000 employees. The insurance costs the employees nothing. The Company pays the premiums."

"Here we have a splendid example of the new spirit which is pervading industry, and which if persisted in must eventually level the barriers that often lie between employer and employee."

"There may have been a time when corporations exploited their employees and yielded to them in better wages and working conditions only as they were forced to do so. Possibly a number of this type of corporation survives, but they are passing. Mutual distrust and antagonism is giving way to mutual friendliness and co-operation. If a social revolution ever threatened this country, the menace is fading. The ground is too barren."

"This single generous act of the Standard Oil Company will do more to sweeten the relations between capital and labor than all the propaganda in the world."

2ND PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Provides City Shall Not be Liable For Certain Injuries Unless Notice of Defects Filed

EXPLANATION IS GIVEN

City Attorney Fullerton Describes Present Conditions in City

Editor, Brainerd Daily Dispatch, Brainerd, Minnesota.

Dear Sir: In the Brainerd Daily Dispatch, Saturday evening the first proposed amendment to the City Charter was explained. I submit the following explanation of the second proposed charter amendment:

The second amendment provides that the City shall not be liable for injuries sustained by defective streets or sidewalks unless notice of the defects has been filed with the City Clerk at least ten days before the occurrence of the injury or damage.

Under the present conditions, the City is the only unit of government that is liable in such cases. If one is hurt on a county road or on a town road, there can be no recovery of damage against the County or Township. Neither could there be a recovery of damage against the State or Federal government if one were injured on the properties of such divisions of the government. It is believed by many that the City should not be any more liable than the County, State or Federal government, and that it is proper for the City to protect itself as far as possible against liability for damage. Some believe it will tend to keep all citizens of Brainerd interested in possible liability to the extent that they will report any known defects and that after the defects are reported, with a realization of possible consequence, will tend to make the council even more prompt in caring for such defects.

This is a question of public policy and all may not agree that it is best that such amendment be adopted. Many will vote for the amendment for the reason that they see no reason why the City should be the illogical exception to the rule that the government in all its branches is not liable in damage cases.

The same amendment was submitted in May, 1921, at which time it received 1059 votes in favor of the amendment and only 275 votes against the amendment. The amendment did not carry, however, for the reason that so many people did not vote on the proposition that the required majority of the total vote cast was not received, the 1059 favorable votes being fifteen votes less than the number required.

The Supreme Court has passed on the validity of such an amendment in the case of Schigley vs City of Waseca, 106 Minn. 94, 118 NW 250. D. H. FULLERTON, City Attorney.

ANNUAL CONGRESS OF SAFETY COUNCIL NOW OPEN AT LOUISVILLE

(By United Press)
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 29.—A new method of dealing with the national accident problem was announced by the National Safety Council when it opened its 13th annual safety congress here today.

Prominent among associations at the congress are: The United States Chamber of Commerce, The American Automobile Association, The United States Automobile Chamber of Commerce, The American Railway association, The International Chief of Police association, The National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, the American Electric Railway association and the American Mutual Alliance.

The council proposes to enlist the aid of all national associations whose interests in any way touch upon the street and highway problem.

C. B. Auel, vice-president of the Council, explained how the new program would supplement the efforts of American cities—nine of which have just announced they have reduced public accident fatalities during the first six months of 1924 in comparison with the same period in 1923.

NEHEMIAH HUBBARD DIED SUDDENLY

Death Sunday Believed to Have Been Caused From Heart Trouble

LEAVES WIFE, SIX CHILDREN

Family Lived in City Past 13 Years, Funeral to be Held on Wednesday

Nehemiah Hubbard passed away suddenly on Sunday, death resulting it is thought from heart trouble. Mr. Hubbard was born at Sherbourneville, Indiana, October 11th, 1850. He moved to Cedar Rapids, Iowa when a young man, and was married there to Miss Ophelia Rittenburg on December 14th, 1869.

To this union were born four daughters and two sons, all of whom with their mother are living. They are Mrs. Flora Butterfield, Brainerd; Mrs. George Allers, Minneapolis; Mrs. Myrtle Kosmo, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Mrs. Charles Countryman, Pine River, Arthur of Brainerd and Charles of Fargo, N. D.

The family moved to Brainerd in 1911, and has made its home here ever since. Mr. Hubbard was for a number of years janitor at the old court house.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Whitney chapel, Rev. Walter Smith officiating, and interment will be made in the Baxter cemetery.

HAROLD E. PURDY IS PROMOTED

General Salesman Standard Oil Co. in This Territory Goes to Minneapolis

ASSUMES NEW DUTIES TODAY

Robert Elder of Brainerd Succeeds to Position of Mr. Purdy Held Here

Harold E. Purdy, for the past two years general salesman for the Standard Oil Company in the Brainerd territory, has been promoted to superintendent of the Minneapolis warehouse and left today to assume his new duties.

Mr. Purdy has made many friends in Brainerd who will regret to hear of his leaving, but who will join in wishing him success in his new location. He has always worked hard for the interests of his company, and his friends feel that the promotion is a most deserved one.

Robert Elder, who has been with the Standard Oil Company at Brainerd for the last five years as service station attendant and later as local agent, has been promoted to the position made vacant by Mr. Purdy removal to Minneapolis, and E. W. McCulloch, connected with the company for about seven years, has been made agent at Brainerd.

Roy Carlson, service station attendant at South Sixth and Maple streets has also been promoted, and leaves for Minneapolis about October 1st, where he will join the sales force. Mr. Carlson has been an exceptional service station manager, with an enviable record, and patrons will regret to learn that he is to leave that position, although they feel that his promotion is a meritorious one.

FIRE AT THE PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

Flames Started Around Steam Pipe at 11 O'clock on Sunday Morning

DROP CORD FOUND OVER PIPE

Fire Damaged Corner of 3 Rooms on First Floor Before Extinguished

Fire at about eleven o'clock Sunday morning threatened St. Francis parochial school, corner of North Broadway and Juniper streets.

The flames seem to have started in the rafters below the first floor, and around a steam pipe. The firemen found a drop cord for an electric light thrown over this steam pipe, and the insulation from the cord was burned off for several feet, seeming to indicate that the current had been short circuited which may have caused the fire. It is said that a fire two years ago started at practically the same place.

The fire burned up between the partitions and damaged a corner of three rooms on the first floor before it was extinguished. No furniture was damaged. The loss is said to have been covered by insurance. There were no children in school at the time and school work today was taken up without any delay.

PEONIES ARRIVING

First Shipment Received This Morning by Rotary Club Committee

The first shipment of the peony roots was received this morning. The Rotary committee is delighted with the quality and size of the roots which were received in excellent shape.

As this first shipment was not sufficient for all and as the remainder will not be received for another week it was decided to give these to those who have paid cash.

These roots may be had at Turcotte Bros. Tuesday by those who have their receipts to present showing they have paid cash. An exception will be made for N. E. Brainerd purchasers because of the distance, and all who have paid cash will secure their roots at Richard Ilse's by presenting their receipts.

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE AND ORDER OF NOTICE THEREON

In the District Court of the United States, for the Fifth Division, District of Minnesota.

In the matter of Carl William Bowerman, Bankrupt, No. 2164 in Bankruptcy. To the Honorable William A. Cant, Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota.

Carl William Bowerman, of Brainerd, in the County of Crow Wing, and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 22nd day of September, 1923, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1923.

CARL WILLIAM BOWERMAN.

Order of Notice

District of Minnesota, ss.

On this 18th day of September, A. D. 1924, on reading the Petition for Discharge of the above-named bankrupt, it is—

ORDERED By the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 7th day of November, A. D. 1924, before the said court, at Duluth, in said district, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Brainerd Dispatch, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court, that the clerk shall send, by mail, to all known creditors, copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

WITNESS The Honorable William A. Cant, Judge of the said court, and the seal thereof, at Duluth, in said district, on the 18th day of September, A. D. 1924.

J. Harry O'Brien, Representing Tuchselt Sons, Does so in Novel Manner

J. Harry O'Brien, representing F. W. Tuchselt Sons, cigar manufacturers, is offering to assist the Deerwood sanatorium radio fund in a rather unique manner.

In all, seventy-five cigars will be so placed on sale and the cash received from these smokes, $7.50, will be turned over to the radio fund of the Deerwood sanatorium.

These cigars are the well known El-Preliecto brand, especially packed in individual capsules to insure their quality and aroma, and are regular ten-cent sellers.

Smokers who wish to help the radio fund can make their money do double duty by purchasing the capsule cigars at the three named drug stores. FRANCE LOOMS AS U. S. TENNIS RIVAL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 29.—America's overwhelming defeat of Australia in the challenge round at Philadelphia for the Davis Cup was not a surprise. The decisiveness of the victory, however, was not expected.

With a Johnston who was thought to be on the decline and a youthful Richards who had never played cup singles before to help Bill Tilden, no one braved the forecast that the Americans would win the shutout victory of five to nothing.

Not only did the Australians fail to win one of the five matches, but they were able to win only one set and that in the doubles, where they were given a fine chance to win by the critics.

America has had a chronic weakness in the doubles since Bill Tilden and Bill Johnston went to Australia in 1919 and brought back the cup. When other combinations failed, the committee this year turned back to the two Bills, and they delivered in noble fashion.

The United States already has made a new record of winning the challenge round for five years in succession and for holding the cup over the long stretch of continuous time. The prospect for the future is not as bright as it was four years ago, of course. But there is no reason to believe that the team tennis supremacy of the world will not remain here for two years or more.

It has been proved rather convincingly that Australia has no chance to win the cup with the players that are now available. The challenging team, of course, would have been stronger this year with Jim Anderson, the Australian captain, in the lineup, but it would not have been strong enough to win the cup. Patterson and Wood are just as old and as far along in tennis as Tilden and Johnston. Brookes is through and the young Australians are not as far along as Richards and Howard Kinsey and there is little chance for them to catch up.

After all the money that has been spent in sending a team halfway around the world on a fruitless quest for the cup, it is probable that Australia may not challenge again next year, for the task will be just as hopeless and they know it. It is very likely that if Australia does send out another team next year that it will not get as far as the challenge round.

The menace to the future life of the cup in the United States looks to be developing in France. Rene Lacoste showed such good tennis here this summer in the international tournaments that he is regarded as a real comer in cup tennis. Jean Borotra can play much better than he did in the United States and the pair seems to be sure of challenger class within a few years.

RAIN CLOUD AT PHILADELPHIA

THREATENS POSTPONEMENT OF GAME BETWEEN ATHLETICS AND YANKEES

(By United Press)
Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—Rain here today threatened to cause postponement of the game between the Athletics and the New York Yankees. If the contest is called off, a double header will be played tomorrow.

A heavy drizzle all morning soaked the playing field and it appeared unlikely the game could be played.

Officials of the Philadelphia team, however, had not called off the game at 12:30 p. m., although it was still raining at that time.

State Baseball Teams Must Enter Lineups in Series by This Evening

Teams entering the state tournament at Lexington Park on Oct. 2, must have the complete rosters of their teams in the hands of the St. Paul officials by Monday evening, Sept. 29, President W. F. Dewey of the Central Minn. league declared this morning.

The Rochester team has entered the tournament, taking the place of Albert Lea. The Minneapolis champions refused to play the South St. Paul team, and the stockyards champions will be the Twin City entrant in the tournament.

Jimmie Murray, association umpire, and Tony Pleva have been selected to work the state tournament games.

BRainerd HIGH DEFEATED BY STAPLES HIGH

STAPLES PILES UP LARGE SCORE; FIGURES READ 43 TO 0

INCLEMENT WEATHER CAUSED A DISAGREEABLE AFTER-NOON

(Contributed)

The Brainerd high school football eleven suffered its second defeat last Saturday when Staples piled up a score of 43 to 0 in a one-sided battle on the Staples gridiron. Inclement weather caused a disagreeable afternoon both for the players and the many Brainerd fans who attended the game. Staples has a heavy team of fast and aggressive players.

Breaks in the game favored Staples. Brainerd played a loose, ragged game, fumbling often at inopportune times.

Indirectly the cause for Saturday's defeat is poor support and lack of responsibility both on the part of the players and on the part of those who should be out for the team. Brainerd has a green and inexperienced team; not one of last year's veterans holding a permanent position this season. Many men are not out for practice due to the fact that they did not make enough credits last year. That the players that are out are young and lack enthusiasm is apparent at every practice. Only 14 or 15 men appear for training; not enough to make two teams. In order to put forth a better team there should be more competition for the different positions.

Brainerd's supporters are asked to remember that under such conditions as these no coach could produce a better "eleven" than Mr. Krueger put into the field last Saturday.

Chief Big Feet Is Caddy

Some day the open champion of the grand old Scott's game of golf will be an Indian—if you don't believe it, ask Chief Big Feet, who totes a bag at the Kew Valley country club, Bar Harbor, Maine. The chief is not only one of the best caddies at the club but one of the best players and has won several caddy tournaments. He is believed to be the only Indian caddy in the world, except for the Seminole boys in Florida.

English Superstition

There are many English superstitions connected with babies, the most interesting of which being what is known as "the christening bit." On the way to the christening the nurse must take with her a small bag of biscuits, which she must offer to the first person she meets. If he refuses, the child will be unlucky, but if he accepts, then good fortune will smile upon the babe.

"LITTLE WORLD SERIES" WITH BALTIMORE STARTS NEXT THURSDAY

St. Paul, Sept. 29.—Pennant honors in the American Association rested again with the St. Paul club, as the 1924 season ended yesterday with a double header all around the circuit.

While the Saints divided a double header with Louisville in the last games here, the outcome could not affect their leadership, as they clinched the championship in Saturday's games.

It is the sixth time the Saints have won the pennant in their 23 years' participation in the association, and the fourth time in the last six years.

Indianapolis finished as runner-up, four games behind the Saints, with Louisville in third place. Other clubs participated in this order: Milwaukee, Toledo, Minneapolis, Columbus and Kansas City.

St. Paul will now turn to its "little world series" games with Baltimore, champions of the International league, with the series opening at Baltimore next Thursday. Four games will be played there, and the teams then will come to St. Paul.

Twirler Whiffs 24 Out of 29 Batters

Jack Rogers, eighteen, of South Pittsburgh, Tenn., who enters Mercer university next fall, struck out 24 of 29 batters to face him in a game which his team, the Case-Fowlers, won from Hawkinsville, Ga., 10 to 0. Only two Hawkinsville players reached first. Rogers, who has only one eye, delivers the ball with his head turned toward first base.

Girls! Have Pretty Eyes

No girl is pretty if her eyes are red, strained or have dark rings. Simple camphor, witchhazel, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash, keeps eyes healthy, sparkling and vivacious. Dainty eye cup free. Johnson's Pharmacy.—Advt.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Advt.

FRANCE LOOMS AS U. S. TENNIS RIVAL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 29.—America's overwhelming defeat of Australia in the challenge round at Philadelphia for the Davis Cup was not a surprise. The decisiveness of the victory, however, was not expected.

With a Johnston who was thought to be on the decline and a youthful Richards who had never played cup singles before to help Bill Tilden, no one braved the forecast that the Americans would win the shutout victory of five to nothing.

Not only did the Australians fail to win one of the five matches, but they were able to win only one set and that in the doubles, where they were given a fine chance to win by the critics.

America has had a chronic weakness in the doubles since Bill Tilden and Bill Johnston went to Australia in 1919 and brought back the cup. When other combinations failed, the committee this year turned back to the two Bills, and they delivered in noble fashion.

The United States already has made a new record of winning the challenge round for five years in succession and for holding the cup over the long stretch of continuous time. The prospect for the future is not as bright as it was four years ago, of course. But there is no reason to believe that the team tennis supremacy of the world will not remain here for two years or more.

It has been proved rather convincingly that Australia has no chance to win the cup with the players that are now available. The challenging team, of course, would have been stronger this year with Jim Anderson, the Australian captain, in the lineup, but it would not have been strong enough to win the cup. Patterson and Wood are just as old and as far along in tennis as Tilden and Johnston. Brookes is through and the young Australians are not as far along as Richards and Howard Kinsey and there is little chance for them to catch up.

After all the money that has been spent in sending a team halfway around the world on a fruitless quest for the cup, it is probable that Australia may not challenge again next year, for the task will be just as hopeless and they know it. It is very likely that if Australia does send out another team next year that it will not get as far as the challenge round.

The menace to the future life of the cup in the United States looks to be developing in France. Rene Lacoste showed such good tennis here this summer in the international tournaments that he is regarded as a real comer in cup tennis. Jean Borotra can play much better than he did in the United States and the pair seems to be sure of challenger class within a few years.

BRAINERD HIGH

DISAGREEABLE AFTER-NOON

(Contributed)

The Brainerd high school football eleven suffered its second defeat last Saturday when Staples piled up a score of 43 to 0 in a one-sided battle on the Staples gridiron. Inclement weather caused a disagreeable afternoon both for the players and the many Brainerd fans who attended the game. Staples has a heavy team of fast and aggressive players.

Breaks in the game favored Staples. Brainerd played a loose, ragged game, fumbling often at inopportune times.

Indirectly the cause for Saturday's defeat is poor support and lack of responsibility both on the part of the players and on the part of those who should be out for the team. Brainerd has a green and inexperienced team; not one of last year's veterans holding a permanent position this season. Many men are not out for practice due to the fact that they did not make enough credits last year. That the players that are out are young and lack enthusiasm is apparent at every practice. Only 14 or 15 men appear for training; not enough to make two teams. In order to put forth a better team there should be more competition for the different positions.

Brainerd's supporters are asked to remember that under such conditions as these no coach could produce a better "eleven" than Mr. Krueger put into the field last Saturday.

RAIN CLOUD AT PHILADELPHIATHREATENS POSTPONEMENT OF
GAME BETWEEN ATHLETICS AND YANKEES

(By United Press)

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—Rain here today threatened to cause postponement of the game between the Athletics and the New York Yankees. If the contest is called off, a double header will be played tomorrow.

A heavy drizzle all morning soaked the playing field and it appeared unlikely the game could be played.

Officials of the Philadelphia team, however, had not called off the game at 12:30 p. m., although it was still raining at that time.

State Baseball Teams
Must Enter Lineups in Series by This Evening

Teams entering the state tournament at Lexington Park on Oct. 2, must have the complete rosters of their teams in the hands of the St. Paul officials by Monday evening, Sept. 29, President W. F. Dewey of the Central Minnie league declared this morning.

The Rochester team has entered the tournament, taking the place of Albert Lea. The Minneapolis champions refused to play the South St. Paul team, and the stockyards champions will be the Twin City entrant in the tournament.

Jimmie Murray, association umpire, and Tony Pleva have been selected to work the state tournament games.

CHISHOLM STAR
AT NOTRE DAME

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 29.—Walter "Baldy" Rahja, former Hibbing Junior college star, has left Chisholm for Notre Dame university.

His Chisholm high school athletic record ranks in the upper tier of the all-time Chisholm high school athletics.

210-Pounder, Standing
6 Feet, 7½ Inches Is
Out With Iowa Frosh

Iowa City, Iowa, Sept. 29.—Wendell Huff, 17-year-old Iowa yearling, who stands 6 feet, 7½ inches in his stocking feet, reported to Coach Rolie Williams for freshman football Saturday. The Hawkeye prodigy hails from Cuba, Ill., and is a three-sport man, having an aptitude for football, basketball and track.

The big fellow has not taken the time to broaden out, as yet, for he weighs only 210 pounds—a mere trifle—but since he has not reached his eighteenth birthday he still has time to fill out.

Huff is from the coal mining district in Illinois and his work in the mines during vacation has put him in good condition for football. He is expected to make a strong bid for a place on the yearling eleven.—Minneapolis Tribune.
